

'Every Night Halloween' for City's Rowdies

By JOHN MIKA

Every night is Halloween in Greater Victoria for a booming population of juvenile delinquents.

And it is primarily the fault of parents, a panel of experts told some 30 members of the B.C. Association of Social Workers, South Vancouver Island branch, Thursday night in the City Welfare Centre.

The panel was asked three questions about the problem of juvenile delinquency in this area.

Is Delinquency Increasing?

"The increase in our court work has blossomed four-fold in Victoria," said city juvenile officer Lyle Somers. "It has jumped from 125 cases in 1949 to 500 cases last year."

"That's just court cases. Actual delinquency triples that."

Sgt. Victor Pratley, Oak Bay juvenile officer, said the average annual increase in delinquency has been 342 per cent during the past decade.

"That seems ridiculous. But those are the figures," Harry Adams, Saanich juvenile officer, said 20 cases of juvenile delinquency in 1949 grew to 242 in 1958 "and we're just touching the surface."

"Each year the number seems to be doubling," he said. So far this year there have been 155 cases and I'm sure that in a month or two we will have had the same number as for all of last year."

Whose Fault Is It?

"Lack of control by the parents," said Mr. Adams. "Sometimes a mother will phone me to say her child is definitely beyond her control—and the child is only five years old!"

"Every night is Halloween here. Juvenile delinquents have no respect for property. They'll smash things and steal. And when you ask them why, the only answer you get is, 'For something to do.'"

He said many parents don't know where their children are at night or who their companions are.

Mr. Somers said parents "continually blame society but they forget they are society."

"Children are what parents make them. Some parents think you have children and that's it—they will grow up all by themselves. Well, they don't."

He said teachers were unfairly blamed for the problem. "How can you blame teachers when they have the children for only five hours of the day and the parents have them for the other 19?"

The juvenile officers also criticized the junior high school system as a producer of trouble-makers because it is too large and unwieldy for keeping pace with the individual child's needs.

But they agreed with Mary King, deputy B.C. superintendent for child welfare, that there are many causes for juvenile delinquency.

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot said he felt society was to blame because it had broken up the family unit and demoralized parents.

He said home life "was completely destroyed" by the two world wars and the tremendous expansion of Canada's economy.

"Today we have a very false standard of living, and to keep up to that standard the mother must go out to work to pay the bills."

He said this caused juvenile delinquency and was one of the "ways in which we are paying for our economic standards."

What Is the Solution?

All agreed that there is no single solution but that a single juvenile judge with jurisdiction over family squabbles too would be a vital step towards improving the situation in Greater Victoria.

Mr. Somers and Mr. Pratley disagreed that a unified juvenile and family court itself would be of any particular benefit but they said appointment of a single judge and a probation staff is needed desperately.

Miss King and Mr. Adams went further and said a unified court, providing a central and larger administrative unit, would unfold greater possibilities of helping delinquents.

"I think by having four courts at present, we are not being fair to the children," said Mr. Adams. "I'm for a single court and a single set of files so we can do a better job."

DRESSING UP THE RIGGING

Montreal's waterfront is bustling with activity today as ships are spruced up for big day Saturday when St. Lawrence Seaway is opened to traffic.

Historic Channel In Use Saturday

(From Times News Services)

More than 50 ships, anchored over 30 miles of river are ready to pass through the $475,000,000 St. Lawrence Seaway on its opening Saturday and sail on into the Great Lakes.

Many of the ships, representing almost every maritime nation, will be the first large ocean-going ships to reach the Great Lakes.

Elaborate ceremonies are being prepared to greet the vessels as they enter various harbors.

The ships are anchored in about the order they will start through the canal. They will be led into the canal by the ice-breakers d'Iberville and Montcalm, carrying members of Parliament and the Senate and honored guests.

It is reported that Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who was not slated to be on the ships, may change his mind and join the convoy. Toronto has planned a big ceremony for the first ships arriving there. Plaques and medals will be given to the first ships, foreign and Canadian.

Some ship captains are reported worried about overcrowding in the ports. They say the delay in opening the canal because of ice has caused a pileup and further delay and additional expense will be caused in the ports. But port officials say they will have wharf and terminal facilities to handle all shipping once the initial rush is over.

At Lanoraie, Que., St. Lawrence River pilots reversed themselves and agreed to take the 9,815-ton Norwegian tanker Olav Ringdahl Jr., loaded with Russian benzol, through the canal without lightening her. The ship draws 23 feet, about 1.5 feet less than the seaway's navigating depth—a little too close for comfort, according to the pilots.

60-Year-Old Dream Realized

Today sailors painted and scrubbed their ships, and ran up colorful flags.

The first "working ship" to use the seaway, the 36-year-old Canadian lake freighter Simcoe, will inch into the lock opposite Montreal harbor. It will signal realization of a 60-year-old dream and mark completion of a campaign for a deep-water inland route that will stretch as far as Chicago and Duluth, Minn.

Although the United States is paying one-third of the seaway's construction costs, only two American freighters were destined to be among the initial armada that uses it.

Saturday's working opening will be followed by a more formal ceremony June 26, when Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower come here to officially put the seaway on the map of world trade routes.

One firm, which operates fresh-water pleasure boats as well as some of the lake freighters that will be the first through the locks, prepared today to cash in on people's curiosity. It advertised a $99.50 return trip June 8-11 that will take sightseers through the seaway system to Lake Ontario and back to Montreal. (See Page 3.)

A resolution placed on the Commons order paper by Labor Minister Starr said another amendment to the Unemployment Insurance Act would provide that maximum benefits be paid over 52 weeks instead of 36 as at present.

The resolution gives no details of proposed higher benefits or rates of contribution. No indication was given of the date the proposed changes would be made effective.

However, reports in Ottawa state that the top benefit may be increased to $36 a week from $30. The existing $4,800-a-year income ceiling for insurance coverage may also be increased to $5,500.

Dismissal Asked Of Nfld. Lawsuit

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has filed two motions for dismissal in the Exchequer Court of Canada of Newfoundland's suit for damages against the federal government.

One motion asks the court to toss out, for lack of jurisdiction, the case. Newfoundland's claim for damages on the ground of alleged breach of a contract under which the RCMP acts as a provincial police force in the island province.

The second motion also asks for a dismissal of the suit on the ground that the province's statement of claim "discloses no reasonable cause of action."

Rotodyne Plant Seen At Pat Bay

The famous Rotodyne helicopter will be manufactured at the Fairey Aviation plant at Patricia Bay if there are sufficient Canadian orders for it, G. W. Hall, chairman of the parent Fairey Company in England, said here today.

He also stated his opinion that the Rotodyne would be "ideal" for a fast air service between Victoria and Vancouver.

Mr. Hall, a skilled aeronautical engineer, said he will spend a week inspecting the Pat Bay plant to decide how it could be expanded and adapted to manufacture of the Rotodyne.

"We have all the necessary basic equipment at our Pat Bay and Halifax plants; it is therefore a matter of the demand justifying the expenditure," he said. "A great number of people out here" would like to see the Rotodyne in operation between Victoria and Vancouver, but declined to name them at present.

Mr. Hall said the Rotodyne is a "very fast" helicopter, capable of carrying 60 and 63 passengers, and its economical operation would, inevitably, reduce fares, besides cutting out time and expense in travelling to and from airports.

Meantime, Mr. Hall is conferring with Glenn MacPherson, president of Okanagan Helicopters, who placed an order for the Rotodyne last September.

"We expect this plane will be ready for delivery within the next 18 months or so," he said.

SIX ORDERED

He added that there is "considerable interest" in the plane across Canada, and New York Airways have ordered six Rotodynes with the option of ordering 15 more.

The Rotodyne, developed by a team of Fairey aeronautical engineers, recently broke the world speed record for helicopters at 190.9 miles per hour in horizontal flight over a closed circuit of 100 kilometres.

Mr. Hall anticipates the ultimate cruising speed of the plane will be between 160 and 180 mph.

It is capable of rising vertically from a space of little more than 100 square feet, and its rotor wings, which provide lift for the takeoff, are allowed to free-wheel when two conventional propeller engines take over in flight.

The plane offers twin-engine safety so that if one engine fails it climbs on the other.

Castro himself was unworried, and undeterred from his ebullient round of seeing sights, including the Empire State building, and meeting people, including pretty girls, politicians, school children and the owner of his favorite baseball club.

Today, Castro visited the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, Inc., in downtown Manhattan, the largest market of its kind.

Castro, who was greeted by Charles S. Lowry, president of the exchange, said he was visiting the exchange because "our most important product is sugar."

ARMS CACHE DISCOVERED IN PANAMA

PANAMA CITY (AP)—National guardsmen today reported finding a second cache of arms on the beach where Roberto Arias and a rebel band landed six days ago.

Arias, fugitive husband of ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn, still was eluding patrols.

The rebels were believed well armed in their hideout.

The latest buried arms cache included 24 Argentine pistols, three revolvers, five loaded cartridge belts and 1,000 rounds of ammunition.

'IN TWO OR THREE DAYS'

Ottawa May Act On CNR Strike

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Starr indicated today that the government will step into the CNR strike threat situation.

H. informed Opposition Leader Pearson in the Commons that the situation is being watched closely and "we are contemplating some meetings in the next two or three days."

Though he did not say so, the meetings presumably would be with CNR officials and representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC) which has threatened to strike the CNR May 1.

Paul Martin (L-Exeter East) noted that the firemen's chief, W. E. Gamble, is in Ottawa today conferring with Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, and suggested that Mr. Starr meet Mr. Gamble today.

Mr. Starr said he realizes the seriousness of the situation. But he wanted to give the union chiefs time for full consultation.

Radio, TV Probe

OTTAWA (UPI)—Revenue Minister George Nowlan announced today that a 35-member special Commons committee will be set up to probe Canadian broadcasting. Nowlan said the committee would "consider" radio and television broadcasting as a whole and especially the operations of the publicly owned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Fruit Shortage Ends Siege

BRUSSELS (UPI)—A bugle-toting band of university students stormed and held a medieval castle for nearly 12 hours today before making their peace with besieging police and departing with honor.

About 150 male and female students swam Beersel Castle's moat in the dead of night to occupy the fortress. It started as a stunt to protest university budget cuts in favor of a campaign to popularize museums.

But the prank rapidly assumed crisis proportions. The students blared their defiance from behind the castle's thick-oaken gates at police who arrived with fire hoses and tear gas.

The students belted the ropes with ripe tomatoes and other fruits and vegetables. Police held their tempers and their weapons and won the day with diplomacy. After hours of talking, the students streamed out of the castle.

Another pressure that led to the end of the siege was food. The students had run out of food and they originally had planned for three days but they threw most of it at police. Their colleagues on the outside hired a helicopter and it was set to take off for the fortress with fresh supplies when police got wind of the operation and halted it at the airport.

The students filed out of the castle chanting "Victory, victory" and were met by a convoy of trucks and cars which had come from the university with cases of beer and sandwiches.

The new supplies were broken out and distributed to the students held in the castle. They promptly made speeches demanding more money for universities.

By mid-afternoon the whole thing was over and both sides withdrew, leaving the castle to the tourists again.

Nehru Seeks to Reconcile Tibetan God-King and Reds

IN LOVE?

Italians Speculate On Margaret

ROME (AP)—Some Rome newspapers speculated today that perhaps Princess Margaret is in love.

The man is 31-year-old Prince Henry of Hesse. He is a tall, quiet-mannered artist who bears the title of the ancient German house of Hesse and is a descendant of the house of Savoy, which gave Italy her kings.

The handsome prince was Margaret's most frequent partner during a gay night club evening out this week. She danced almost every dance until the tired guests began to trickle home from Rome's fashionable Cabala club.

Thursday, when Queen Mother Elizabeth went the rounds of her visits, Margaret showed up for cocktails with a select party of friends at the Villa Savoia, Prince Henry's residence in Rome.

The prince was with her when she visited St. Peter's Basilica Thursday.

Thursday night Margaret joined her mother at a formal reception. Prince Henry was there too.

Nehru said he hoped the Dalai Lama, Tibet's 23-year-old spiritual and temporal ruler, would return to Lhasa, the Tibetan capital. "It was an obvious bid to reconcile the Red Chinese government and the Tibetan god-king, who fled from the Communist domination of his homeland."

Nehru has refused to condemn the Chinese Communists for the repression of the Tibetan rebellion. But he has said India's sympathies are with the Tibetans and that autonomy, or local self-government, is the only ultimate solution for the situation in Tibet.

Chinese Nationalists in Taipei reported today resistance to Communist rule has been growing in the Chinese province of Sinkiang since the revolt in Tibet.

Government sources quoted an intelligence report as saying the Communists were taking savage measures.

The report said that in March the Communists arrested more than 4,000 persons in the main cities of the province and executed most of them.

CASTRO CUTS CANADA VISIT

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has definitely curtailed his visit to Canada, and will only stay a few hours in Montreal.

Conchita Fernandez, private secretary to Castro, said the Cuban prime minister will not have time to fulfill all his scheduled visits at this time, and will be in Montreal from Sunday afternoon until early Monday morning, before returning to Havana.

'Gangsters' Go About Business

NEW YORK (UPI)—The "American gangsters" reported converging on New York to assassinate Cuban prime minister Fidel Castro for pay were located Thursday night, going peaceably about their business in Philadelphia and Las Vegas, but police refused today to relax their heavy guard around the people-loving statesman.

Castro himself was unworried, and undeterred from his ebullient round of seeing sights, including the Empire State building, and meeting people, including pretty girls, politicians, school children and the owner of his favorite baseball club.

Today, Castro visited the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, Inc., in downtown Manhattan, the largest market of its kind.

'If They Knew Truth, They'd Burn Schools'

Ald. Elmer McEwen Thursday erupted with volcanic bitterness to accuse the province's educational system of a conspiracy against school children.

"If the people knew the truth, rather than building more schools, they would burn them down," he cried, shaking with rage.

The educational system "is threatening our democratic system," he said.

Teachers threatened students with expulsion if they didn't like them.

NOT INTERESTED

"I am convinced they are no more interested in educating the people than they are in flying."

Sometimes shouting and sometimes appearing on the verge of tears, Ald. McEwen also charged:

"In B.C. if you are the son or daughter of a (non-British) immigrant, you can't be a teacher, a doctor or a druggist. You can't, no matter how many exams you pass."

'FARCE'

"Can you imagine the farce we're in? Collecting taxes, building schools and all the time many people are worrying because their children are deliberately failed.

"Now these are the actual facts. But I haven't been able to get written proof, just verbal answers."

Ald. McEwen said he knew of one girl who was failed last year, although her lowest mark was 76, "because she wanted to be a teacher."

PURPOSELY FAILED

"In school today, if 1,000 students want to enter teachers' college and that is a few too many, a few are deliberately failed to cut the number down."

He said out of every 100 students who write examinations, five will be failed and five will be given honor standing with the remainder scaled between the two extremes "no matter what marks they actually get."

He also said the medical and pharmaceutical associations rigidly control the number of students entering college towards these professions.

"I think that's wrong," he shouted. "If there are 1,000 students who want to take pharmacy, and they can pay their way, they should be allowed to do it."

He said teachers should try to encourage students to advance their education instead of "being threatened out of school."

"IN WRITING"

Ald. McEwen appealed to council to help him force the school board and educational authorities to give him answers "in writing" to his questions. He said his charges were based on information given him but he could not prove it because it was only verbal.

The more he examined the educational setup, "the more alarming it gets," he said.

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot, immediately jumped to his feet and took "strong exception" to the attack.

Dazed by Ald. McEwen's allegations, he said: "I've never heard of this before... this is radical... unbelievable."

Ald. Proudfoot said he was an immigrant himself, yet he had been a teacher here and his two children went through college.

"But you're a British subject," retorted Ald. McEwen. Ald. Proudfoot said that teachers here "are really dedicated to their work and doing their best for the children."

"I agree that they have a peculiar way of grading students, but if you can understand it, it is a very scientific way of grading," he said.

Ald. A. I. Curtis agreed with Ald. Proudfoot and said he was sure Ald. McEwen had been supplied "a great deal of misinformation."

Education Minister Peterson, admitting amazement at the attack by the one-time Social Credit candidate, said:

"If anyone has evidence to support such allegations... it is their duty to present it to the Chant royal commission, now studying the province's education system."

He denied that teachers must be British subjects. "We have many immigrant teachers. We insist that they have qualifications equal to the province's requirements and that they be able to instruct in English."

Mr. Peterson also denied there is a set number of students who are failed in examinations because they are at the bottom of a class. He said the pass mark is 50 per cent and if all earn more than 50 per cent, all pass.

"The percentage of students who continue in the higher grades of high school and who go on to university in British Columbia, is the highest in Canada," Mr. Peterson said.

Civil Service To Present Pay Demands

MONTREAL (CP) — Fred Whitehouse, president of the Federation of Civil Servants, says a demand for retroactive salary increases for civil servants is to be presented to the federal government late this month.

Addressing the National Association of Employees of the Veterans Affairs Department, Mr. Whitehouse said that if the federation's salary recommendations are not well received by the government, the federation will make an appeal for public support of its demands.

He said the right of representation and discussion, extended to other citizens by the government, should also be extended to federal civil servants.

'Betrayal' Charges On Farmers' Demands

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA — Two western CCF MPs stirred up a hornets nest of depals in the House Thursday with charges that Prairie Progressive Conservatives betrayed the farmers and that government supporters plied a farm delegation with liquor to make them forget their purpose in marching on Ottawa.

Criticism of these statements by Hazen Argue, CCF house leader, and Frank Howard (CCF-Skeena) came from Liberals as well as Progressive Conservatives as the House resumed a debate on agriculture department estimates that was suspended while the budget was discussed for eight days.

Mr. Argue charged that western Conservative MPs betrayed the farmers in that they are opposed to the "legitimate" demands of the grain growers. The Conservatives had been making "disturbing" statements since the farm delegation came here in February, "saying that they are opposed to deficiency payments."

The 1,100-man delegation sought these payments in a brief to the government that would bring the price for grain sold in the last three crop years up to the average price over the preceding years since the Second World War.

'Cheapest Kind of Tactics'

Ed Nasserden (PC-Rosthern) said that if anyone betrayed the farmers it was the MPs who for the last 10 or 12 years have advocated policies in Parliament that created ill will in other parts of Canada and were not really what the farmers wanted.

He charged the CCF MPs with "the cheapest type of tactics they could have devised" in meeting the farm delegation on arrival here with banners, placards and "other trademarks of irresponsible organization."

Mr. Howard said complaints about the CCF welcome were "jealousy and sour grapes" by MPs whose colleagues had been heard to wish they had thought of doing what the CCF had done.

At least the CCF, he said, did not put on "a booze party," cart the delegates into a back room "and try to push aside their complaints and say 'never mind about the problems of the farmers, have another drink; have another shot of Scotch or rye'..."

W. C. Henderson (PC-Carlton Place) interjected "pretty cheap."

"My honorable friend" says 'cheap politics,' replied Mr. Howard. "He ought to know about cheap politics; he is sitting in a government with over 200 cheap politicians."

Committee chairman Charles E. Rea (PC-Toronto Spadina) ordered both men to withdraw their remarks.

Mr. Howard then tangled with Jack H. Horner (PC-Acadia) who charged Mr. Howard with stating "nothing but a bunch of lies" when the CCF MP said the Conservatives tried to confuse the farm delegation "hoping that the people will forget about it and John Diefenbaker will not have to live up to his promises."

Court Test Facing New Bonding Law

A Victoria boat and trailer sales agency plans to challenge new B.C. legislation which requires dealer-owners and salesmen of cars and trailers to be bonded.

HIT A NERVE

Dentist Plan Rejection Irks Mayor

Mayor Percy Scourrah said Thursday the Capital Region Planning Board director's "nerve" was a good example of the reason the city council should refuse to adopt the master plan.

The mayor was speaking against an advisory planning commission recommendation rejecting an application for rezoning a property on Burdett, between Blanshard and Quadra, for a dental building.

The mayor said that a doctor's office and dental offices already exist in the area. "But the (CRPB) director comes around and speaks against it because, of all things, his plan says this area is for hotels."

"So these three dentists are supposed to build some other place. The nerve of it." The council agreed with the mayor, overruled the commission and instructed the city solicitor to prepare a bylaw rezoning the property.

Salt Spring Angler Stars In U.K. Film

GANGES—When the London Press Club held its B.C. Night April 10, members and guests made a brief visit by film to Salt Spring Island.

For a fly-fishing sequence he called on A. M. "Buzz" Brown to play the fisherman at St. Mary's Lake, and his daughter, Josette Brown, to perform as the beauty who distracted the angler.

Feature of the meal was a 25-pound fresh spring salmon caught on the Pacific coast and flown to London. Guests included B. M. Hoffmeister, B.C. agent-general in London, and four Canadian editors.

Charles Mullins of Surfacing Products and Marine Supplies, 845 Yates, is meeting other dealers Monday and is prepared to test the new legislation through court action. It was not intended to cover small boat trailers, he feels.

The legislation required that all dealers and salesmen handling cars and trailers must be bonded as a public protection. The inclusion of trailers, and boat trailers, brings the marine supply houses within jurisdiction for the first time.

All trailer sales also must be registered as are motor vehicles following a recent change in the Motor Vehicles Act.

50-50 Power Split Sought

OTTAWA (CP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton indicated Thursday that Canada hopes to get an even break from the United States in downstream benefits on Columbia River power developments.

A 50-50 split seems a "fair basis," Gen. McNaughton told the external affairs committee in replying to H. W. Herdridge (CCF-Kootenay West). "I can't say that has been arrived at and I can't say it would be acceptable to British Columbia," added the Canadian co-chairman of the International Joint Commission. There were two parties to the Columbia developments and the simplest solution would be an even split. There would be no logical basis for any other settlement.

The Door Is Forced Open

UNDER PRESSURE, THE Canadian Government has withdrawn a cabinet order restricting immigration. Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, with a show of indignation that has served only as a transparent smokescreen, has stoutly denied that the order was aimed at Italians. Her denial carries little conviction.

The government has done the right thing, but not for the right reasons.

The order, passed on March 19, denied Canadian residents the right to sponsor the entry of brothers, sisters and married sons and daughters.

The Government argued, but not convincingly, that while such sponsorship existed, the number of skilled workmen seeking entry to the country was curtailed. It was, said Mrs. Fairclough on March 5, unfortunate that an able-bodied young man seeking entry "should be obliged to wait a great length of time before being considered because there are so many ahead of him."

And this statement followed immediately another from the minister of immigration that "Italy is the one country which in great volume sponsors relatives. It seems that immigrants from Italy, here for the required length of time, want to bring out their brothers, sisters and other relatives. That has been mainly the reason for the huge backlog (of prospective immigrants) which has built up in Italy."

How does this square with Mrs. Fairclough's statement in Parliament Wednesday that "I must state as emphatically as I can that there is no truth whatever in the charge that this amendment was designed to curtail immigration from Italy?"

The fact of the matter is obvious. Conservative immigration policy, as indicated in the recently withdrawn cabinet order, has been restrictive—a point made earlier by the Ottawa Journal, the friend of the Diefenbaker government.

"The new regulation," that newspaper commented, "undoubtedly is restrictive, however piously and loftily it is explained. It is unfortunate that the way we choose to be restrictive is by placing barriers which keep families apart."

In Parliament this week the government has retreated from a policy whose result, if not intent, has been to reduce the flow of newcomers to Canada.

And this is the government which, as one of its election promises, pledged itself, in Mr. Diefenbaker's words, to "an intensive immigration policy . . . expansive rather than restrictive," when he was appealing for votes in the election campaign.

The argument which can be made for attempting to retain the balance of immigration in a way to preserve British predominance, does not alter that fact.

Nor do the demonstrations of indignation and sharp criticism against the Liberal policy obscure it.

There may be much about the Liberal policy to criticize. It is impossible, however, to ignore certain figures no matter what argument may be offered to explain them. During 1957, the last year in which Liberal immigration policies were operative, 282,000 immigrants came to Canada. Last year, under Conservative control, only 125,000 entered the country.

Agitation Again on Divorce

THE ASSIZE COURT CONVIC- tion and sentence of a local man for fabricating evidence has once more brought the divorce law of Canada to public attention, with significant comment from the trial judge and the provincial attorney-general.

The trial judge said, "the law may be far from being a monument to the present moral . . . standards of the community." The attorney-general said he had never differed with the opinion of western bar associations which have sought its amendment for many years.

This may be as close as a jurist and the province's chief law officer can come to criticism of legislation which has been attacked for many years. Restrained as the remarks were, however, they indicate to the public a legal appreciation of something the public has known all along. This is that the law which permits divorce only on grounds of adultery is both out-moded and injurious to law in general.

It would be a naive citizen who assumes that many persons joined in an unsatisfactory marriage do not resort to subterfuge to win final legal separation.

As it stands, the law is an invitation to perjury, to collusion, to fabricated evidence. And these improprieties are condoned by a large section of the public because of the nature of the law itself.

Thoughtful Canadians have tried for years to have it amended—possibly along lines followed by Britain where cruelty, insanity and desertion as well as adultery provide grounds for divorce.

So far their efforts have failed. The results of their failure have been shown in exaggerated form by the shabby case recently before the Assize Court. The shabbiness is not restricted to one isolated case.

The intent of serious-minded people is not to reduce marriage to the state of a casual, easily dissolved contract. But in its present form divorce law is at once cruel, ineffective and corrosive. Here is an instance in which Canada lags far behind the enlightenment of Britain.

Warn Them Against Fire Now

OFFICIALS OF THE BRITISH Columbia Forest Service have reminded the public that the fire season opens at the end of this month.

In a few days it will be necessary to obtain permits before starting bonfires within half a mile of forests, and at times of peak hazard, no fires will be permitted at all.

At the same time the service has recalled for the public the tremendous loss caused by conflagrations last year. This year, according to long-range forecasts, weather conditions could be just as serious.

This is a situation with which every British Columbian should be thoroughly familiar. Familiarity, however, is not enough to guarantee protection of the forests. The careless motorist who throws a cigar or cigarette butt from his car on the highway may realize, immediately he has disposed of the stub that he is endangering the neighboring forest.

He is aware of his lapse, but conceivably will repeat it.

Under these circumstances, perhaps one of the most valuable preventive forces the forest service can marshal to check such adult heedlessness can be found among the children. If they are warned often enough, if they have drilled into them the dangers of smokers' carelessness, they can be highly effective in carrying the message to their parents.

The forest service tries to use this young generation in its preventive work. At present two lecturers are taking the "gospel of safety" in the woods to schools in the Prince George and Kamloops areas. But, if they are lucky, they can expect to cover no more than 100 schools each in a year. In British Columbia there are about 1,200 schools.

Perhaps the work of the department might be supplemented by the principals who will not be visited this year by the official lecturers. If principals and teachers were to give a three-minute warning talk to assemblies every Friday morning until the vacations start, they could do a great deal to impress their parents, and British Columbia might thereby reduce the summertime disaster which is fire in the woods.

A Timely Offer

NINE YEARS OF SERVICE TO this community have made the surplus of food stall one of our basic institutions. Distribution of food of all kinds from the old location in the market building has tided hundreds of needy families over difficult times, and helped many a pensioner to maintain life and dignity on a barely adequate income.

All money donations to the stall have gone for additional food, and the imminent razing of the building in which it was located posed the serious question of finding rent-free quarters. That problem has been solved by a generous offer from the Elks fraternal order to provide accommodation at the rear of the Elks Home.

The community owes a vote of thanks to the organization for its timely action, as well as to the food stall operators, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Harper, who now fortunately will be enabled to continue their valued and voluntary work.

ONCE IS ENOUGH FOR SOME

There Can Be Trouble in a Double

By B. A. TOBIN

THERE is an interesting act going on in Nuremberg these days, according to the news. A fellow there is making a pile of money by mimicking Adolf Hitler.

He says he spends every free hour reading the Fuehrer's speeches, listening to his recorded voice, looking at his photographs and immersing himself in Adolf's thoughts and feelings. The result is that this fellow looks and sounds so much like Hitler you couldn't tell them apart. The money angle comes from work in movies or as an entertainer. The Nuremberger says he is booked up for appearances in seven Hitler movies and that he's in big demand for parties and carnivals.

Tobin

It would be quite a thing if Hitler's double turned out to be a bigger success than Adolf himself. It would be more permanent work, too.

But another thought occurs. Suppose this fellow IS Hitler? Suppose the Fuehrer went underground for a few years, found he couldn't change his appearance, and decided that if he was ever to appear in public again he'd have to do it as an impersonation of himself.

What would be simpler than for Hitler to pretend he was Hitler? And even get paid for it?

Even the Russians couldn't penetrate an ironic curtain like that. Perhaps it's too early, even at this date, to write Adolf off as dictator but not Red.

It's odd how famous or infamous men refuse to die. For some years after the war, and perhaps even today—people popped up here and there who claimed to have seen Hitler. Lord Kitchener was regularly reported as appearing incognito long after his death. Perhaps Caesar and Alexander, Attila and William the Conqueror were reported by citizens years after they had departed the scene.

Two outstanding exceptions come to mind. Nobody ever claims to have seen Lenin or Joe Stalin walking around after their deaths. Their successors made sure of that by putting the bodies on permanent public view in Red Square.

That sort of thing even discourages a double—if you can imagine anyone wanting to take the risk of masquerading as Joe. Someone might masquerade as one of the thousands of Russians, Stalin liquidated—and that could lead to trouble.

This business of impersonating former notables could be carried too far. The public mind, and the history books, might tend to merge the two images so that in years to come it would be difficult to separate them.

Confusing Picture

Thus, distant posterity might come to know Hitler as a jolly fellow who loved to go to church on Sunday and was a leading contributor to the Jewish Hospital fund. That could come about through confusing the real man with someone who later played the character as a gag.

Did Nero really play the fiddle? Or was it merely somebody who, years after Nero's death, used to turn out on Roman holidays dressed like the former Emperor and gradually merged his fiddling ability with the real Nero's story?

There's no end to such speculation. There's not much point in it either, I suppose. Many of the so-called "facts" of history have been disproved time and time again, but they still live on in the public mind.

People prefer things the way they learned them and they prefer to remember the characters of history in their traditional form rather than as they may really have been.

Obviously, under such a system, the great figures of history run an awful risk of being misrepresented. Many a leader of many a past age must writhe eternally in his grave at what history has done to him.

Wrong Way Round

Perhaps his pet aversions have been fastened on him as his favorite pastimes. Perhaps his choicest statements have been misquoted and turned around to mean the opposite of what he said. Even worse, perhaps his most hated enemy has been credited with his best words or deeds, and he in turn has been blamed for his enemy's faults.

Many a shade must long for the opportunity to come back and impersonate himself—the chance to appear and cry, "No, no, this is what I was really like! This is what I really said!"

But no doubt they are mercifully spared such torment. As the father said, in advocating the principle of "spare the rod and spoil the child," what you don't hurt won't know you.

They may as well get what laughs they can out of Hitler II, then. But it will take a lot more than one extra lifetime to balance the account. A thousand Hitlerian mimics, working full time, wouldn't drown out the cries the original set loose upon the world.

Perhaps we should wish that Nuremberg fellow an early retirement. If it's true that you can't get too much of a good thing, it must be equally true that you can't get too little of a bad.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Unbelievers

In the letter of "Concerned" in your issue of the 20th Inst., concern is expressed that some youths had not heard of Salome the dancer, though they did know that it was "Bible stuff."

"Concerned" should realize that a steadily lessening number of people consider the Bible as their sacred book. There are also the sacred books of other religions.

Also an increasing number of people do not believe in any organized religion that has a supernatural God. FREETHINKER.

Capital Gains Tax

Some thoughts on Mr. Fleming's budget.

The top tax rate on earned income (over $400,000) is now 80 per cent and on dividends it is 64 per cent, which gives the impression that the rich are being soaked. But speculative profit and other untaxed income have made millionaires, built luxurious homes and provided Cadillacs and residence in warmer climes. Such income should continue doing so, and there's the added impetus of northern development.

Speculative profits have done the same in the U.S.A., only its government has been taxing capital gains and getting a slice of the profit. While our government hasn't seen fit to tax such profits, made on our natural resources and accompanying prosperity, the U.S. government has. It collects capital gains tax from its citizens on foreign investments. This tax doesn't appear to deter investors.

Should not all income, regardless of its nature be taxable under one graded schedule of rates? This should result in a more realistic tax schedule, one seemingly less extortionate on high incomes, with maybe a maximum tax of about 50 per cent.

Another untaxed income is found in the practice of companies issuing warrants, rights or options to shareholders entitling them to buy stock at much below market value. In a recent case the company will receive $35,000, 000 new capital and the shareholders will be $17,000,000 richer.

There's no reason why we should recognize as a model the U.S. capital gains tax. Canadians know too well from the "dragging the feet" in connection with the seaway how difficult it is to get impartial action on a controversial question, south of the border. I can't speak as an economist or tax expert, however I'd like to mention a few ideas. Capital losses should be deductible from capital gains but not from earned income. Maybe taxability should cease after fifteen years of ownership. And how about recognizing the depreciation of our dollar and reducing the taxable profit by 5 per cent of the cost of the investment for each year it was held. A tax on capital gains wouldn't be inflationary.

JOHN GILBERT.

A Treasure Taken

A treasure has been taken from our property. Trespassing and stealing are punishable by law. The crime of ignorance condemns us all who have failed in the responsibility of raising children to respect and observe the rights of others and share in the guardianship of the beauties of nature.

A small colony of calypso—the false lady slipper—was taken from our property in a secluded place in Saanich on Saturday or Sunday last. They had been shown on Wednesday and Friday to the president of the Victoria Natural History Society and to Miss Emily Sartin, the distinguished wild flower artist; both of whom were delighted and encouraged that such a safe and suitable area had been found where these beautiful little British Columbia orchids could grow and increase.

Propagation is impossible except in the exactly right conditions of light, shade, mixture of humus, moss and decayed matter with accompanying rock and moisture considerations. They need the woods and other special plant growth indigenous to this part of the country.

Attitudes are established very early in children. With elders "getting the idea" from conservation programs and government legislation it should not be difficult to bring the children along naturally to respect and protect these rights and resources.

The present state of affairs must not continue to exist without the greatest effort, concerted and individual, to correct the attitude of mind which allows the picking of the calypso on private property or on public.

Dr. Adenauer's Achievements

By TERENCE PRITTE, from Bonn

POSSIBLY the people who are going to notice the change most, when Dr. Adenauer ceases to be Federal Chancellor some time this summer, are the police detectives who haunt the grounds of his Palais Schaumburg — discreet shadows who flit behind trees at the Chancellor's approach.

Day after day Dr. Adenauer has taken his punctual walk, lasting the best part of an hour, and always in the company of his chancellery confidant, Herr Hans Globke. Day after day his long legs have carried him along the two miles of paths through the grounds of the Palais Schaumburg, and his lean figure has halted awhile to admire a tree or flower.

Nobody knows who will take Dr. Adenauer's place, although names are being flung around with such abandon that a national lottery on the succession could be a profitable venture. But, whoever it is, the detectives are going to have an easy time.

Dr. Franz Etzel, the finance minister, is not an out-of-doors man. Dr. Ludwig Erhard, the minister of economics, prefers mechanical propulsion to walking. And Bundestag President Eugen Gerstenmaier's legs are so short. In one respect, at least, Dr. Adenauer is irreplaceable.

One thing which should be said at once is that Dr. Adenauer will not regard the post of Federal President as a sinecure—if he is elected in the place of Professor Theodore Heuss in July.

Veto Power

He will nominate the new Chancellor, and so silence critics who have blamed him for not grooming a "Crown Prince" during his own ten years in office. He can approve or veto the appointment of judges and senior civil servants.

In special cases he can withhold his signature from new laws. He will sign treaties—and Dr. Adenauer's signature is not given without earnest reflection. He can even attend Cabinet meetings.

Dr. Adenauer will be politically a much more active President than Professor Heuss ever was. Not for him the role of sage and philosopher, even though he may speak at times like a small-town Pascal. The weight of his authority will continue to be felt in high places.

Yet there is no blinking the fact that his purely political career is over, for the service which he will give to his country in the future will be only patriotic and personal.

What, then, have been his principal achievements during the past ten years, when he has led three Federal Governments and won three Federal elections? I would suggest the following, in ascending scale of importance.

He has given Western Germany a solid and efficient administration.

It is fashionable to scoff at provincial Bonn, the "Federal Village," and the somewhat pathetic self-importance with which it strives to adorn its provisional status. Yet Bonn has witnessed the sure and sensible development of democratic rule during a breathing space which the German people desperately needed. The record of laws passed, business transacted, of quite simply—government, is an impressive one.

Ended Occupation

Dr. Adenauer has given the Federal Republic a sovereignty which may, in time, be translated to the whole of Germany. He ended the "Occupation"—not by kneeling under to the Allies, as his Social Democratic enemies say, but by negotiating with them tirelessly, shrewdly, and with typical Rhineland toughness.

The milestones along that particular road were the Petersberg, Bonn and Paris agreements. It led to German independence and equality within the Western community of nations.

Dr. Adenauer has given Western Germany a clear and coherent line of foreign policy. Never let that achievement be underrated! For it is something which no other statesman has done for Germany since the fall of Bismarck 70 years ago.

In his foreign policy Dr. Adenauer has been accused of a certain inflexibility, but it has been an inflexibility within carefully reasoned limits and with exactly defined objectives.

Dr. Adenauer's foreign policy has very nearly added the word "common-sense" to the German vocabulary.

Finally, Dr. Adenauer has given the people of Western Germany firm and loyal friends. This is his greatest achievement. For the supreme mistake of all of Bismarck's successors was to suppose that real friends were less of a necessity than a nuisance.

Even the Austro-Hungarian Empire was regarded as a satellite and Italy as a convenient appendage.

Dr. Adenauer won the friendship of the Western nations by absolute honesty and by refusing to take up an uneasy bargaining position between East and West. It is possible today for an Englishman in Germany to say, "I wish Germany well." Not so many years ago it would have been unthinkable.

Huge Task

How did Dr. Adenauer do all this, when becoming leader of his country at the advanced age of 73, a country which was divided politically, occupied militarily, and distraught spiritually after a disastrous war and twelve years of tyranny?

Chapters could be written on this subject. I prefer a short and easy explanation. Dr. Adenauer owed his success to his Roman virtues — self-reliance, logic, lucidity, exactitude, and economy of effort.

The Romans founded Colonia, Dr. Adenauer's own home town of Cologne, and Dr. Adenauer may indeed have seen himself in the role which the Romans once filled — standing sentinel on Europe's most vital outpost line against the menace of latter-day barbarism.

The Romans built on law, order and authority. Dr. Adenauer strove successfully to do that, too, and if he was not cast in the mould of Augustus it was because there was too little scope in his Germany. Rather he was the perfect pro-consul, serving both his people and Europe.

"My wish," Dr. Adenauer once said, "is that some time in the future, when mankind looks beyond the clouds and the dust of our times, it may be said of me that I did my duty."

Too Late! Too Late!

THERE comes a time when a man might well break the routine of a quiet evening by trudging up to his room and donning the tuxedo that hasn't seen the light of midnight electricity perhaps since the dawn of the atomic age.

Such an occasion could occur to men of my years when they receive the current notice from the Social Register of Canada disclosing that its new edition is correcting some of the omissions of the first.

Some of us were passed over in the original. But now the SROC has revised its assessment of those who are acceptable and doubtless is at last recognizing true merit. So it took a year, so what?

Only there is a slight and distressing apathy caused by the delay. As a famous writer once said: "First you care a lot. Then you care a little. Then you don't care." And if some of us were mildly hurt because we were ignored, we have grown lethargic in our response to the embossed notice that "the Social Register of Canada is pleased to announce that your name has been placed before its Committee of Arbiters and accepted for inclusion in the forthcoming edition."

Still, a man so honored should try to determine how snugly he fits into the role cast for him by the distinguished, though anonymous, arbiters. He can make the initial effort by donning once more the mantle of an earlier social urge. For some of us that means a dinner jacket. Certainly he should be prepared to wear one if he is to move in the better circles again—that, or tails, and tails make some of us shorter men look four-legged.

But there is sore disillusion in the return to an earlier day's tuxedo. When it comes to such garments, you appreciate the

Missing the Message

LONDON—Names in the news. . . . Renee Martz, 18-year-old American hot gossipier, is certainly not setting things on fire around here. On arrival she said: "I got the call to come to Britain and I honestly feel that if what I am doing is wrong, the Lord would not let me carry on. Too much of the church in Britain is out of date and out of touch with the people. If I can contact some of these people and transmute enthusiasm into them, can it be wrong?"

Whether it is right or wrong, she has been having difficulty in contacting the people into whom she wishes to transmute enthusiasm. After three weeks of hiring halls around the countryside and preaching to audiences of often less than a dozen people (record attendance: 40), she has had to cancel the remainder of her crusade meetings in England, to concentrate on an all-out assault on Wales, where she hopes to have better luck.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Viburnum Neglected Shrub

If you are looking for distinction and diversity of habit and appearance among your garden shrubs, the genus viburnum has both.

Though several of this large genus are grown in our Victoria gardens, they are not nearly so widely used as their beauty merits.

Some are grown for their large showy clusters of white flowers, some for colorful fall fruits, others for their handsome deeply veined leaves.

Viburnum tinus, the laurustinus, is well enough known for its shiny evergreen foliage and deep pink buds all winter.

Several quite different viburnums are opening their flowers now, notably V. carlesii with fragrant flowers and bright green leaves. The hybrid, V. x carlescephalum has larger heads of flowers than the preceding, and is even more fragrant. Both of these are deciduous, that is, they lose their leaves in fall.

Another frequently seen viburnum in the deciduous group is V. opulus sterile, the popular snowball tree. The round white globes of sterile flowers are immensely attractive in early summer, and the foliage adds its own beauty to the garden picture by early fall.

The evergreen viburnums have amongst them some of the most heavily textured leaves among the shrubs, and for this reason alone should be included in shrub borders. Viburnum davidii will grow only to a height of two or three feet, but its compact habit and heavily veined evergreen leaves up to five inches long make it most attractive for a front line accent plant. As a bonus, it bears for several months, clusters of large buds which finally open in June, followed by blue berries in fall.

A taller growing viburnum is the evergreen V. rhytidophyllum (meaning 'grooved leaves'), of interest all year with long dark, wrinkled leaves and dull white flowers followed by black berries.

All the viburnums are easy to grow, requiring only a deep soil, and an adequate supply of moisture during summer. The evergreen species will thrive in a location partially shaded during summer.

TODAY'S BEST FROM EUROPE

"I'm afraid that this repair will turn out to be rather expensive."

Writer's 'Guess' Wrong—Bennett

A Wall Street Journal writer, who this week belittled the proposed development of the Peace River, Wenner-Gren hydro project, came under fire Thursday from Premier Bennett.

The writer had suggested the Wenner-Gren scheme may not become a reality, and was promoted as a means of gaining U.S. co-operation in the Columbia development.

The premier said: "Some stories are based on knowledge and some supposition. Any writer who guesses the Peace is not going ahead, his guess is wrong. There is no change. Everything is going on schedule."

At the same time, the premier handed reporters copies of the front page of another issue of the Journal. He said he will circulate 200 copies to B.C. newspapers and other points.

This was the issue of March 18, which outlined the serious position some of the United States had reached through poor financial techniques. An accompanying letter points out the healthy British Columbia financial position due to the policy of reducing direct debt.

"No matter what our critics say, in seven years (in office), Social Credit will have created a miracle, paid off all the direct debt of the province. Neither our friends nor enemies thought we could do it. The credit belongs to the people of British Columbia," said the premier.

Queen Mother 'Jumped'

ROME (AP) — An Italian woman grabbed Queen Mother Elizabeth today, shouting "Bread and work! Bread and work!" at her.

Four policemen pulled the hysterical woman away and hauled her off for investigation.

The Queen Mother later sent a personal note to Mayor Urbano Ciocchetti of Rome asking him to give his "benevolent attention" to the incident and on a sightseeing tour of Rome, see the woman is shown did not appear ruffled. She clemency.

Ciocchetti telephoned the Brit-400, stepped into her car and wished the royal request to Princess Margaret was sightseeing elsewhere today.

ECONOMIC FUTURE PATH FOR B.C. OIL-EXPERT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pipeline plans for northern British Columbia and Alberta open an "economic future path" for B.C. oil to come to the coast, a pipeline engineer said Thursday.

Charles D. Bailey, chief engineer for Trans-Mountain Oil Pipe Line Co., which has a pipeline from Alberta to Vancouver, explained the plans.

He said a proposed Peace River pipeline, which would connect with the Trans-Mountain line at Edmonton, Alta., "appears to lie on a route strategically planned to tap the great new areas of discovery."

MARKET SUMMARIES

Ford Hits Year High In Toronto Trading

Western oils after bucking the trend since the opening joined the rest of the Toronto stock market in moving forward today in light mid-afternoon trading.

Among industrials the best wins went to banks, refining oils and motors. Steels were mixed. Ford added 3 points at 138, a 1959 high.

Electronics and selected issues made good gains in a moderately higher market at New York today. Zenith highlighted the electronics group with a run-up of about 14.

AT TORONTO coppers were higher but uranium lost. Geco Copper jumped 2 1/2 at 20 1/2 while Hudson Bay and Noranda each added 1/2. Consolidated Denison and Algonic each lost 1/2 among uranium.

Golds were strong with McIntyre the leader, up 1 1/2 at 83.

Western oils rallied as Canadian Husky and Home Oil B wiped out their early losses. Pacific Petroleum added 1/2 at 14 1/2 and Triad was ahead 15 cents at $4.95.

AT NEW YORK Aluminum Ltd. and International Nickel were up 1/2. Canadian Pacific 1/2, Dome Mines 1/2, McIntyre Porcupine 1/2 and Hudson Bay Mining 1/2. Distillers Seargams and Walker Gooderham lost 1/2.

On the American stock exchange Brazilian Traction lost 1/2, Shawinigan 1/2, Eureka and Preston East Dome 1-16 and Fargo Oil 3-16. Sapphire Petroleum gained 1-16.

AT MONTREAL industrial prices on the stock exchange were irregularly higher today.

$50 MILLION B.C. PLANT

Ceagar to Introduce Unique New Methods

NELSON (CP)—Two processes unique in the British Columbia pulp industry will be used in Ceagar Limited's $50,000,000 plant at Castlegar, company secretary Ian H. Barclay said Thursday.

He said the kraft pulp mill will use two Kamyr continuous digesters, first of their kind in B.C., and an Airborne Flakt dryer, which passes pulp sheets back and forth in the drying room by air jets.

Mr. Barclay, who spoke to the local chamber of commerce, said about 325 men will be needed to operate the mill.

The company's construction program for 1959, he said, will involve expenditure of about $9,000,000 and open commitments for a further $10,000,000.

More than 1,000 workers would be needed by June this year and the figure would reach more than 800. At the peak construction period in April, 1960, more than 1,200 would be employed, he said.

Mr. Barclay reiterated assurances that the lives and health of Columbia water consumers will not be endangered by pulp mill effluent.

"From an effluent point of view," he said, "the Columbia River presented great advantages."

The small portion which is put back into the river is extremely dilute, even under minimum flow conditions.

Mr. Barclay said the pulp mill will use 40,000,000 gallons of water daily, compared with the City of Vancouver's consumption of 47,000,000 gallons a day.

The gold industry's case is that at the present price of $35 an ounce there isn't enough gold to support the vastly increased amounts of international currency.

So far, the United States is pretty well in the driver's seat on the question, being the steady market for gold at the fixed price. And her declared policy is against any increase.

This is hard on the gold industry—which has to operate under a price fixed in the early 1930s despite increases in production.

Representatives of South Africa and Canada presented the gold case.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Grain prices eased early today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange under selling prompted by reports of fairly good moisture in the form of snow across the Prairie grain belt.

A. J. BOWERING
... in new post

Transport Deputy Appointed

Appointment of A. J. Bowering, former assistant chief engineer in the highways department, as deputy minister of the new department of commercial transport, was announced late Thursday.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks, who recently was given the dual position of minister of commercial transport, said his new deputy minister will receive a salary of $13,200 annually.

Mr. Bowering was in the highways department for nine years. He was a member of the Road Users' Commission set up last year, which made the recommendations which resulted in establishment of the new department.

Mr. Bowering is a UBC graduate in civil engineering. He became a professional engineer in 1941 and was employed in the public works department for 14 years before going to highways. Born in Alberta in 1911, he came to British Columbia in 1913. He is married and has two children.

The commercial transport development, which took over the old department of railways, primarily will be concerned with control of commercial vehicle transport on British Columbia highways. It will issue permits, set load limits and be in charge of weight station operation. The new department has a staff of over 50 and also has the use of some of the clerical staff of the motor vehicles branch.

2-Party System Ambition of CCF Says B.C. Member

WINNIPEG (CP)—Erhart Regier, CCF member of Parliament for Burnaby-Coquitlam, said Thursday night that the CCF wants a return to the two-party system in Canada.

Mr. Regier, speaking to about 25 persons at a nominating convention for the May 14 Manitoba election, said an effective democracy can function best when there are two parties that subscribe to different philosophies—a conservative party and a radical party.

These parties must alternate in office for really effective democracy, he said.

In Canada, they should be the CCF and another party. The only arguments between the Liberals and the Conservatives were on questions of administrative import.

Important Talks On Columbia Set Next Week

Six representatives of the British Columbia government will go to Ottawa and Montreal next week to take part in talks on Columbia River development, Premier Bennett announced Thursday.

They are Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Dr. J. V. Fisher, government economic adviser; B.C. Power Commission chairman Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, deputy lands minister E. W. Bassett and B.C. comptroller of water rights, A. F. Paget.

The premier said the six are part of a federal-provincial committee which will liaison with the International Joint Commission on Columbia development. Federal representatives on the committee are headed by Alvin Hamilton, minister of northern affairs and resources.

The committee was arranged in March, the premier said.

Its first meeting will be in Ottawa Tuesday. Then it goes to Montreal for the April 30-May 1 meeting of the international committee, where it will be on hand for consultation if desired.

The premier said a technical sub-committee has also been named to assist the liaison committee on engineering aspects of the proposed development. B.C. representatives are Mr. Paget, Gordon Kidd of the water rights department, Maurice Glover and G. Ronald Knight, both of the bureau of economics and statistics.

Boy Mauled By Lion

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A two-year-old boy was mauled by a six-month-old lion, Wednesday, when he wandered into a neighbor's yard where the 120-pound pet was staked on a chain.

Johnny Cox was in fair condition at a hospital after treatment for wounds on his ear, throat, shoulder and stomach.

'DON'T TAKE NO'—BENNETT

Premier Bennett thinks Mayor Percy Scurrah gave up too easily when Ottawa refused to aid in construction of a new civic auditorium in Victoria.

The premier promised some months ago, if the federal government would provide a third of the cost, and the community a third, the provincial government would put up the balance.

Mayor Scurrah asked the Ottawa officials, without result, Premier Bennett said Thursday. "He should go back again, he shouldn't take no."

PGE 'In Black' Claims Bennett

The Pacific Great Eastern Railway, described by Premier Bennett as the "brightest jewel in our crown," broke all previous records for freight loadings in March.

The premier said Thursday the government-owned railway carried 4,407 revenue freight cars in March—an increase of 69.6 per cent over March of 1958.

"Total operating revenue has increased 66.9 per cent over March, 1958. Our operating expenses only increased 15.8 per cent."

"As a result, for the first time in the railway's history, the PGE is in the black."

The premier, who also is PGE president, said a profit exists even after debt charges and depreciation allowances are paid. He would not release figures.

The premier said the railway's passenger revenue is increasing. Where the average journey length was 65 miles, it is now increased to 110 miles.

The railway is only classed as operative between North Vancouver and Prince George. Between Prince George and Fort St. John and Dawson Creek stations, although regular service is maintained, the railway is still "under construction," hence this section is not included in the accounting.

The premier said he was outlining the advances of the railway to "counteract criticisms of the line which he attributed to Opposition Leader Robert Strachan at Nanaimo."

Planners Hard Pressed To Keep Pace

Community planning must keep up with the fast pace of community development or feeder roads leading to main routes will be lost, Saanich town planner Anthony A. Parr said Thursday.

Roads often have to be routed around property of owners not willing to co-operate, he told the Victoria Capital Region Branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada.

On one occasion, he said, after deciding on the logical place to link two major roads, he suddenly realized he was standing in the middle of a spot where the property owner had started to dig a basement.

Homes often spring up where it had been hoped a road or school might be constructed, he said.

It was difficult for planning to keep up with actual expansion because of the many new homes and subdivisions going up faster than maps could be drawn, Mr. Parr said.

Bid to Protect Reporters' Sources

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative E. Ross Adair (Rep., Ind.) Thursday introduced a bill to grant newspaper reporters immunity from disclosing confidential sources, Adair, whose father published a weekly newspaper in Indiana, said he long has felt there was a need for such legislation.

8 PROVINCES SWITCH

Canada Set for Fast Time

By The Canadian Press

Canadians in eight provinces will turn their clocks an hour ahead after midnight Saturday as most communities start five or six months of daylight time.

For most, including Victoria, daylight time begins at 2 a.m. Sunday. Other centres make the switch earlier at one minute after midnight.

Alberta and Prince Edward Island stick to standard time all year round. So do the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

Opposition to the extra hour of daylight after the workday comes mostly from rural centres.

The Lion's Gate Bridge across Burrard Inlet at Vancouver, built in 1939, has a suspension span stretching 1,550 feet.

Areas where farmers say it upsets farm schedules. Some mothers criticize it because when it's time for their children to go to bed it's still light and they claim to stay up.

Those in favor of losing an hour's sleep in the spring and getting it back in the fall say they like it light in the evenings so they can make more use of summer leisure hours after work.

In British Columbia, daylight time starts Sunday and continues to September 26. No part of the province is excluded but, as in years past, government officials are concerned about the situation at Fernie, Creston, Field, Cranbrook and Dawson Creek — communities near the Alberta border where clocks are left on Mountain Standard Time all year round.

This practice makes them conform when Pacific Daylight Time is in effect but, as one municipal department spokesman put it, "they're illegal all the rest of the year."

Clocks out of step with government statutory time could result in voided contracts and tenders and interfere with election procedures, he said.

Most Saskatchewan cities, including Regina, switch to Mountain Daylight Time at 2 a.m. Sunday after being on Mountain Standard since last September. The move follows repeal at a recent session of the legislature of the province's Uniform Time Law, which put all of Saskatchewan on Mountain Standard in the winter and

TO AID STENOGRAPHER Police Court Tests Recording Machine

Use of an electronic recording machine to assist the official stenographer was tested at a regular sitting of Saanich police court Thursday afternoon.

Police Chief W. A. Pearson said it was an experiment conducted through the services of Audograph (Canada) Ltd., 1117 Wharf, which supplied the recording machine and installed microphones to pick up all spoken courtroom proceedings.

If the system were adopted it would have the effect of reducing many pages of otherwise written court record (from shorthand notes) to thin, easily filed and stored phonograph-type records made of flexible plastic.

About 10 minutes of proceedings were recorded on a band about 1/4 of an inch wide on a 10-inch plastic disk.

The chief difficulty of such a system of recording is that individual voices are not identified.

But a major advantage of it is that recorded portions may be played back on the spot, thus providing incontrovertible proof of wording in the presence of all concerned.

At present, the Criminal Code authorizes use of such machines as an adjunct to the court stenographer, as with the stenotyping machine like a miniature silent-type writer with shorthand characters.

Yet the human element is still a requirement and the court stenographer is still responsible for the record, according to a reliable interpretation of the Code.

Members approved a donation of $15 to the Conquer Cancer Campaign. A cheque for $15 also will be sent to the Guide Committee to assist in sending two local Guides to Colorado Springs this summer.

Three new members initiated and welcomed into the club were Russell Roe, Pat Kelly and Bill Day.

HE'LL KEEP 'SPARE TIME'

40-FOOT TUG

LANGFORD — A 40-foot tug built in two years of spare time work will be launched shortly by Henry Skinner, 2639 Millstream Road.

He plans to have it trucked to Portage Inlet for launching and installation of a 100-horsepower engine. He will dismantle the deckhouse to let the boat pass under Craigflower Bridge.

Mr. Skinner, a shipwright by trade, built two other tugs at home and sold them. He plans to keep this one for himself.

Ann's Church, Tzouhalem Road, May 2 will commemorate the baptism of 22 Indian children 100 years ago by Rev. Peter Rondeault.

Fr. Rondeault founded the parish, converted the Indians to Christianity, and built the stone church which still stands on Comiakken Hill.

The day-long celebrations have been arranged by the French-Canadian Club of Duncan.

Rev. I. Le Clerc will conduct the service in French at 11 a.m., and there will be a supper at 5 p.m. and party at 8 p.m. in St. Edward's Hall, Coronation Avenue.

13th Anniversary For Legion Women

CHEMAINUS — The Legion Ladies' Auxiliary celebrated its 13th anniversary this week with a banquet following the monthly meeting.

Special guest was Mrs. S. McDonald of Victoria, past president of B.C. Command, who complimented the auxiliary on its outstanding record.

A new plaque inscribed with the names of all past auxiliary presidents was unveiled and will hang in the Legion building.

Scout, Guide, Rite

CHEMAINUS — A Scout's and Guide's Own Service will be held in the Legion Hall Sunday afternoon at 3.

The special service will mark St. George's Day. Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies from the various units throughout Mt. Benton District will attend.

31% School Tax Increase Facing Five Gulf Islands

GANGES — Ratepayers here face an increase of 31 per cent in school taxation this year — from 11.46 mills last year to 15 mills this year.

Final figures on the School District 64 — budget, received from the department of education, show that out of a total budget of $210,472, government grants amount to $96,005, and taxation will provide $104,264.

SURPLUS

The balance is accounted for in the surplus carried forward from 1958, and by a small recovery of funds in rentals.

This year the province is contributing 47.9 per cent of the budget instead of the 62 per cent in 1958. Area affected includes Salt Spring, Galiano, Mayne, Saturna, and Pender Islands.

The increase in taxes cannot be attributed by the school board to any single factor. An 8 per cent increase in pay for teachers and bus drivers, effective from last Jan. 1, accounts for $8,700, all of which must be raised by taxation.

NON-SHAREABLE

The new finance formula for determining the province's share of repair and maintenance costs resulted in one third of the $20,000 provided for this item falling into the non-shareable section of the budget.

Another $7,700 of the cost of transportation and boarding allowance is not shared by the province, since in connection with these services the school board provides more than the basic provincial formula allows as shareable.

OUTDOOR REPORT BY Doug Peden

It is strange how some people, who are careful to stick within the laws in most things, never take the time to learn of regulations aimed at protecting non-game birds and animals.

Although hawks and eagles have been on the protected list for some time, last year there were several cases of gunners blasting at protected predators and even a newspaper picture of a man posing proudly with dead eagle, although he had broken the law when he shot it.

And this week we have the case of the early-rising woodpecker, which was apparently guilty of sunrise pecking and got chased by a rifle bullet.

Someone shooting first and thinking afterwards is liable to have an unpleasant jolt if the game branch decides it's time to bear down. Some laws protecting birds and animals carry provisions for stiff penalties.

Woodpeckers, for instance, are classed as migratory non-game birds and given strict protection in the U.S. and Canada. Hunting woodpeckers, which includes shooting at them, rates a minimum penalty of a $10 fine, but if the judge is feeling stern, he can dish out a fine of $300 and three months in the clink.

Fishing at Saanich Inlet, slow for several weeks, appears to have improved at an appropriate time for the start of summer competitions of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association.

First of the new monthly competitions, which offer a $100 prize to the VSIAA member weighing in the largest salmon each month, gets under way May 1. In a couple of weeks, another ladder derby competition will be launched.

Salmon of tackle-busting size were hitting at the Inlet last weekend and good fishing has continued through the week. As usual, several anglers, including Bill Hoskyn and Bob Redgrave, came in with stories of big ones that got away, but three over 20 pounds were hauled in.

Doug Bray hauled in a 24 1/2-pounder in front of Chesterfield Rock Saturday morning, and R. Wells boated a 20 1/2-pounder off the Stone House a few hours later. The next day, Bill Kirk landed a 22-pound spring.

Several other salmon above 15 pounds and a number of limit catches have been taken from the Inlet in the past few days. Keith Hollett brought in a 19-pounder at Brentwood Thursday and Ernie Farndon boated a spring of 18 pounds. Dynes Atkinson and Pop Harrison topped a limit catch with a 15-pounder and the duo of John Rose and Vic Humphries included a 14-pounder in a full quota.

Also hot spots last weekend were waters off Campbell River, French Creek and Northwest Bay, but wind has hampered activities in those areas during the last few days. A fair number of springs have been showing off Tent Island and Crofton and evening fishermen are picking up grilse of two and three pounds in Cowichan Bay.

Trout fishermen are filling creeks in several lakes and streams. Trout have been hitting nymphs, Stone flies and small spoons in the lower reaches of the Cowichan River and taking well on the Stone fly around Skutz Falls.

Brown hackle flies have been producing well around the headwaters of the river and dry-fly fishermen as well as trollers are taking good catches from Cowichan Lake.

Fishing in Somenos and Shawigan lakes appears to have tapered off a bit, but trollers are still collecting fair catches. Quamichan Lake is yielding fair sport to trollers and the Chemainus River has been a good spot for steelhead.

Closer to home, Elk, Prospect, Thetis and Kemp lakes should be worth a try this weekend.

Pro Golf Body Hauled Into Anti-Trust Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Berkeley golfer Thursday filed an anti-trust suit against the Professional Golfers Association of America, claiming it arbitrarily limits the number of competitors in tournaments.

Herbert C. Deeson, 35, asked $70,000 damages trebled under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, arguing that the PGA is unlawfully conspiring "to control, regulate and dictate terms on which organized professional golf shall be played in the United States."

In his suit, Deeson said he had played in about 100 PGA-sponsored tournaments from April 23, 1951, to Sept. 1, 1958, playing under what is called the tournament players' agreement. He was not a member of the PGA.

On Sept. 1, 1958, he said, he received notice the agreement was terminated immediately. When he tried to register for later tournaments he was refused on the ground that he had not been approved by the PGA.

His lawyer, Bert S. Hoffman, said Deeson had been trying to make his living as a golfer and that being barred by the PGA deprived him of his livelihood.

They'll Watch Mike Much Closer Now!

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Mike Souchak, the happy-go-lucky warrior from Durham, N.C., by way of Grossinger, N.Y., is in a position today to make monkeys out of the "wise guy" gamblers of Las Vegas.

Magnificent Mike, the ex-Duke University football player, went into the second round of the $46,000 Tournament of Champions golf classic today holding a two-stroke lead over the star-packed field — despite the fact he has been completely overlooked in the pre-tournament wagering.

Souchak cracked out a fine six-under-par 66 Thursday — one stroke off the course record — to take a two-point lead over his 25 competitors on the long and tough Desert Inn Country Club course.

The defending champion, Stan Leonard, of Vancouver, who set a 72-hole record of 275 in winning a year ago, was still very much in contention with a 71. The 47-year-old Vancouver-slinger recovered beautifully after a near-disastrous three-over-par 39 on the front nine. Leonard knocked three strokes off regulation figures on the back nine, including an eagle-three on the 10th.

Mike was listed at 20-1 odds in the pre-tournament betting; and he sold in the $380,000 Calcutta pool on Wednesday night for a cheap (for this gambling town) price of $14,500. That compared with $26,000 paid for Gene Littler and $25,500 for Art Wall, who had trouble with par all day Thursday.

Right on his trail, however, came another longshot, young John McMullin, the short-swinging from Alameda, Calif., with a 34-34-68.

Next in line were still some more longshots—Ernie Vossler, and the old-timer of the winter tour, Pete Cooper, Lakeland, Fla., each with 69.

Arnold Palmer, who is given a good chance to win this one, finished with a two-under-par 70. That tied him with Julius Boros, the former National Open king.

Littler had a 71, and that cost

Money in Night Trots Keeps Drivers Awake

NEW YORK (NEA) — With harness racing rapidly outstripping the daylight flat type in New York, players are beginning to complain about having to stay up all night in an effort to get even, which they desperately need to do.

The ninth race frequently goes to the post after midnight. Then the punter has the long drive home, after fighting his way out of the parking lot and through traffic.

It's as rough on the standard-bred trainer and driver as it is on the punter, but he isn't complaining. Billy Haughton speaks for all of them.

"Money keeps us wide awake," he says.

Haughton, eyes watery and face flushed from having to wake up before he was ready, fumbled as he tried to connect an electric shaver with an outlet in his motel room.

"I have 45 minutes to report to the paddock," he said. "It's a good thing I don't need much sleep in a day."

It was 6:45 in the evening and Haughton was staying at a place only a few minutes drive from Yonkers raceway, where these nights he races his 46-horse string.

Billy had driven nine horses the night before, then he went out for a late dinner and a business talk with George Landers, who owns Belle Acton, the mare which has become the leading money-winning harness horse of all time under Haughton. The two went to bed at 3 a.m.

At 6:45, Billy was back at Yonkers, running his stable through morning workouts which kept him busy until 12:30 in the afternoon. He had a luncheon date with two or three other owners of horses he trains. He got back to his motel at 3:30, took the telephone off the hook, threw his clothes over the closet door and went to sleep.

BIG BUSINESS

It is not an easy way to make a living, but in Billy's case it is a living—and then some. Last year his stable earned $1,021,000, the first time in standard-bred history anybody ever cracked a million.

Haughton, a square-faced 35-year-old out of Fultonville, N.Y., picked up $200,000 for himself.

"Trouble with this business," he explained, "is the chopped-up hours. Everything you do cuts into your sleep. If I have to drive in more than a race or two, which is nearly every night, I don't eat dinner before. When you are hunched over in a sulky half the night the less you have in your stomach the better."

"I eat after the races. That means you're having dinner when you should be sleeping. There's no way I can get to bed before 1 o'clock in the morning."

But when Haughton walks out of the drivers' room each night and jumps in a sulky to warm up his first horse he is bright-eyed and in command. He is a big business, he has six assistant trainers, 25 grooms, a blacksmith and a bookkeeper on his payroll.

SIX-TIME LEADER

Haughton has been the nation's leading driver for the last six years. His green and white-barred silks have become as commonplace to trot fans as Eddie Arcaro's nose is to those who bet the thoroughbreds. He drives a white Cadillac, lives in swank Brookville, N.Y., and Winter Haven, Fla. He has been on the New York scene for 12 years. Like everybody else in the sport he still talks of how harness racing once was.

"Billy Muckle," he reiterates, "was a little guy. Maybe only 90 pounds. He was one of the best horsemen I ever saw. I used to watch him at the Vernon Fair in New York. He would have to run three heats to get $150. That was big money. He used to sleep in the barn. No money for anything else. Too bad he didn't come along later. He would have been great here."

"But Muckle raced in the daytime. At least he got some sleep," said someone.

"People lie awake nights scheming—how to make money," replied Billy Haughton. "All we have to do is stay awake to get it."

Bike Race in Park Approved by Council

City council Thursday over-ruled Police Chief John Blackstock and parks administrator W. H. Warren in favor of Victoria Cycling Club.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said the club wanted to stage a cycling race in Beacon Hill Park May 16 as a Victoria Day event but the two officials were opposed.

Chief Blackstock told aldermen he would not have the manpower available to control crowds at the bicycle event because of other events the same day.

Council gave permission to the club to stage the race on the understanding that it would retain the Legion of Frontiersmen to take over police duties.

A suggestion by parks committee to rezone private residential property overlooking Gonzales Bay for future development as park land drew Mayor Percy Scurrell's ire.

"That's all private property... built up, and I don't think it will change... a waste of time... what do you propose to use for money?" he snapped.

Council approved a recommendation that tenders be called for demolition of the public market building.

Department heads and professional assistants were granted an 8.5 per cent wage increase this year after council was told:

1. Fire chief James Bayliss is paid only 45 cents a month more than his deputy;
2. City comptroller and engineer both are paid less than their opposite numbers in Saanich.

MRS SUSAN MOORE... ear trumpet needed.

ENJOYS WALK IN GARDEN

Queen's Cable Brightens Centenary of City Woman

A cable from Buckingham Palace reached Victoria Thursday bearing the Queen's congratulations to Mrs. Susan Moore on her 100th birthday.

A happy smile flitted over the little old lady's face as the cable was read by her friend Archdeacon A. E. deL. Nunns at a birthday party in the Manor Private Hospital, 338 Foul Bay Road. It said:

"The Queen is much interested to hear that you are celebrating your 100th birthday and sends you warm congratulations and good wishes."

Dainty, white-haired Mrs. Moore took the cable from the Archdeacon's hand and in a scarcely audible voice said: "God bless her!"

Letters and telegrams from all parts of Canada reached her during the day and the well-wishers included Defence Minister and Mrs. G. R. Pearkes in Ottawa; Lieut-Governor and Mrs. Frank Ross; Premier and Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett; Mayor and Mrs. Percy Scurrell, and A. deB. McPhillips, Conservative MP for Victoria.

"It has been a wonderful birthday," confided Mrs. Moore, "and I think it will be my last."

However, Mrs. Moore made this forecast a year ago when she was 99. She has been a little unwell the past few days, but until then she was still able to walk in the flower-decked hospital grounds.

"She is a magnificent old lady," said George Taylor, who operates the private hospital with his wife. "She is so cheerful and considerate and the staff simply love her."

Two nieces living in Vancouver—Mrs. L. Sider and Mrs. J. McGown—came over specially to present birthday gifts to Mrs. Moore. Mrs. Victor Sherer, a niece by marriage living in Victoria, also brought a gift.

"Aunt! was simply wonderful to us when we were children," said Mrs. Sider. "She was always generous and kind and she gave freely to anyone in need."

Born and raised in Cornwall, Mrs. Moore was 52 when she migrated to Canada and decided to make her home in Vancouver. A few years later she married Thomas Moore, a Vancouver engineer, who died more than 30 years ago.

RETIRED 35 YEARS

Mrs. Moore then went to work as a housekeeper and continued working until she was 65. Since then she has resided in Victoria.

Surrounded by friends, relatives and nurses, Mrs. Moore sat by a cheery fire next to a large iced birthday cake inscribed: "Happy Birthday to Our Darling—1859-1959."

The room was decked with flowers and on the table stood a choice silver tea set, imported from her native Cornwall, and presented to her by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and the hospital staff.

Mrs. Moore prefers the old-fashioned ear trumpet to modern hearing aids because, she says, these tiny instruments "buzz in my ears." An ear trumpet has been loaned to her by the Silver Threads organization but she would prefer one of her own.

"We would be glad to hear from anyone who has an ear trumpet they do not want," Mr. Taylor said.

Mrs. Moore enjoys regular visits from Archdeacon Nunns and on Thursday morning at her own special request he administered Holy Communion at her bedside.

Council Rejects 19-Cent Raise to 'Outside' Staff

City council Thursday rejected a majority conciliation board recommendation that the city's "outside" staff be given a 19-cent hourly wage increase this year.

Undeterred by a warning that it's decision could precipitate a strike, the council voted to offer the union a 7½-cent hourly increase as recommended by a minority report of the conciliation board.

Ald. Elmer McEwen said the decision could lead to a strike. He also argued that the city could not single-handedly try to solve the nation-wide problem of rising costs.

He said the city should leave the task of setting a labor contract pattern to industrial and commercial firms instead of becoming involved in a summer-long fight with unions.

OTHER ECONOMIES

He said methods of economizing—purchasing larger machines, reducing staff and leasing some types of civic work—could be used to provide the wage increase without boosting the city's total wage bill.

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot snapped that the 19-cent award was "stupid" because it was made across-the-board instead of by categories.

"People like that (the board members) should not be allowed to sit on boards," he said.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, supported by Ald. A. I. Curtis, said the 19-cent award was out of line.

Ald. Edgelow said common laborers, the lowest category in the outside staff, actually earn a total of $2.08 an hour when the value of fringe benefits is added to the wage rate.

He said laborers in private industry here earn only $2 an hour and do not have the security and working conditions enjoyed by civic employees.

He said he was sure the "union itself was surprised when they got such a large award and I feel if we offer them 7½ cents they will accept."

Council was told the 19-cent award would cost $105,000 annually, although only part of it would be reflected in the budget.

How to Live at Peace With Your Nerves

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Emeritus Member, Division of Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

One of the most useful ideas I try to give some nervous persons is that the distressing and often frightening spells they get are due to their nerves playing tricks with several of their perfectly normal organs, such as the heart, the stomach, the bowel, the urinary bladder, the sweat glands, or the blood vessels in the skin.

When the persons asks, "But why are my nerves playing tricks on me, and why do they play tricks when they do?" I can give several possible reasons.

a nervous woman in the menopause, the thermostat for heat is so easily thrown off balance that one minute she is flushing with uncomfortable warmth and sweating, while the next minute she is chilly.

When I am coming down with a cold, my thermostat for heat-cold is sometimes so upset that I can easily go in to a chill so violent that I shake the bed. When I am not suffering from a cold, this sort of chilling never bothers me.

Explanations like this can be very helpful to many a person, if they serve to remove fear from his mind and to help him understand why it is that, in spite of all his discomforts, physicians keep telling him that every test shows that his body is in good condition.

People Differ

One of the most important points that people need to know is that individuals differ greatly in their responses to emotion. Some can go through the most trying and fearful experiences without any increase in their pulse rate or any diminution in their appetite, while others will be terribly upset at just the thought of meeting a stranger or starting on a journey.

I remember being impressed when I read about the insensitiveness of Lawrence of Arabia who, in the midst of a battle, could lie down behind a rock and get a restful nap. I am sure I could never have done such a thing.

A good example of the difference between the reactions of two types of persons I found in the experience of a father and mother when their little daughter was deathly ill and was hardly expected to recover.

The father, who appeared to have inherited from his nervous mother a peculiarly sensitive type of nervous system, reacted so violently to his anxiety that for several days he was unable to eat. Waves kept running from his stomach back up his gullet and into his mouth, causing him to belch, regurgitate, and suffer pain.

The mother, who appeared to have inherited from his nervous mother a peculiarly sensitive type of nervous system, reacted so violently to his anxiety that for several days he was unable to eat. Waves kept running from his stomach back up his gullet and into his mouth, causing him to belch, regurgitate, and suffer pain.

His wife, who was more sturdily built, and had a much less reactive type of nervous system, was more anxious about the child than was her husband; but curiously, her bodily functions were not at all disturbed. She ate her usual three meals a day without discomfort.

The important point I want to bring out is that some persons have a type of nervous system that easily upsets the functions of their internal organs, while other persons have a nervous system that does not disturb these organs.

Often in order to get people to understand how, from nervousness, they can get a pain in the abdomen, I remind them of things they already know. For instance, they know that when they get a fright or a bit of bad news, it can strike them in the pit of the stomach, or it will "tie their stomach into knots."

Can Reveal Symptoms

Interesting is the fact that emotions can not only produce illness by itself, but it can bring out the symptoms of some definite disease that, for a time, has been smoldering unrecognized in the abdomen.

For instance, I remember a choleric old man who, with a shotgun repeatedly chased away the highway surveyors who were trying to run a line across his farm. Every time he worked himself into a rage he had a severe colic needing morphine! This looked like a purely psychosomatic pain due to emotion, but X-ray studies showed that he did have gallstones. When he was calm, they were silent.

Just the strain and fatigue of a long trip to a clinic will cause many a sensitive woman to start menstruating, even when she is not due for another two weeks. Young women who come from a distance to start their nurse's training will sometimes miss a period or two. I have known several women who, in their early 30s, stopped menstruating the day their beloved husband died, and then never menstruated again.

Died of Fright

I remember a number of persons who, I am almost certain, died of fright. They died in the operating room, some of them before anything had been done to them, and others with the first whiff of the anaesthetic, which was not enough to have harmed anyone.

These observations show what a powerfully destructive effect the nervous system can have on the chemical functions of the body.

That strong emotion can sensitize the body to various physical insults was shown me beautifully by a surgeon who, ordinarily, when he is rested and feeling well, has no trouble in scrubbing his hands and arms as he has to do before starting work in the operating room. But if the night before he has been up for many hours, patching up several people injured in an automobile accident, he will be unable to scrub, because the strong soap will then produce giant hives all over his arms.

That strong emotion can desensitize a person so that he will not feel pain is known to soldiers who, when shot during a charge, may say afterward that they did not feel the bullet going through them. I remember once when, as a young man playing basketball, I had a big toe-nail kicked off. I knew nothing about it until the referee called my attention to the fact that I was dripping blood all over the floor.

One of the remarkable observations that we doctors keep hearing about all the time is that the let-up of strain can cause a distressing and off-recurrent pain, like that of a bad ulcer in the duodenum (just outside the stomach), to disappear instantly.

A few hundred times, I have had a man with an ulcer say to me, "You know, before I left home to come to see you, I had had weeks of misery in which, because of the pain in my stomach, I walked the floor at night and got little sleep. And then the other day, when I thought a plane ticket to come to you, my pain disappeared and it hasn't come back. This past week, I have been eating all sorts of indigestible foods, but they don't hurt me, and I am sleeping comfortably all night."

(From the book, LIVE AT PEACE WITH YOUR NERVES, copyright 1958 by Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, and published by Prentice-Hall, Inc.)

SATURDAY — Dr. Alvarez tells how tight nerves can cause real pain, reveals some of the ways a doctor discovers a patient's pain is of nervous origin and how tension in the home can cause illness.

Truck Fired In Wild Strike

FIRE SWEEPS STRIKE-BOUND SHIP IN U.S.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A raging fire in the engine room of the strike-bound English vessel Brestwood was brought under control early today, but not before the blaze had caused damage estimated at $50,000.

No injuries were reported. The Brestwood arrived here Saturday with a 1,500,000-pound cargo of Canadian newsprint. The International Woodworkers of America protested the ship had been used to break the Newfoundland loggers' strike.

The ship was to have unloaded its cargo Monday, but pickets went up around the ship and longshoremen refused to cross the picket lines.

Sweeping Victory For Conservatives In Japanese Vote

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's ruling Conservatives won an overwhelming victory today in state and local elections. Their prizes included the important governorships of Tokyo, Osaka and Hokkaido, all hotly contested races.

Of the 21 state prefecture governors' posts at stake on Thursday, six went to members of Premier Nobusuke Kishi's Conservative Liberal Democrats and of an opposition Socialist.

The remaining 14 went to Independents—nine of them supported by both the Liberal Democrats and the Socialists, four by the Liberal Democrats only and one by the Socialists.

Kishi's party also pulled far ahead in balloting for the 2,657 seats in Japan's 46 state assemblies. Incomplete returns gave them 1,207 to the Socialists' 316.

Guillaume Couture, the first settler on the south shore of the St. Lawrence, arrived at Lauzon, Que., in 1647.

MONTREAL (CP)—A transport truck with its cargo of roofing materials was set afire with torches and destroyed Thursday night as a wildcat strike continued by members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (CLC).

Police said cotton torches were thrown into the rear of a truck owned by Yvon LaRoque Transport Company while the vehicle was pulling into a terminal in suburban Lachine.

They said the driver-identified—jumped to safety but flames ate through the truck and its cargo before firemen could gain control with one stream of water. Pieces of oil-soaked cotton were later found in the debris.

The strike was not authorized by the union. It started here April 15 and spread to Ontario. Thursday night union representatives and an associated bargaining for the Ontario trucking firms jointly announced the difficulties had been settled there, and that the men were "dribbling back to work."

Subdivision Revenue $250,000

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow Thursday proposed subdivision and sale of some 80 acres of the city's Beaver-Elk Lake property for approximately $250,000.

He said the rest of the 540-acre property should be reserved for park purposes.

The plan was turned over by city council to its waterworks and parks committee for study.

QUARTER ACRE

Ald. Edgelow said three blocks could be subdivided into quarter-acre lots "without desecrating in any way the present park area."

The parcels include property north of Elk Lake, the old Game Farm east of Patricia Bay Highway, and a parcel west of the highway.

'CITIZEN JOHN' OBJECTS TO REZONING

Police Chief John Blackstock dropped his rank Thursday to private citizen, tax-paying class.

He was among about a dozen residents who protested rezoning of the south side of Hillside between Cook and Blanshard to permit apartment buildings.

Apartments would spoil the residential area—one of the best on the street—and compound the traffic problem, the chief argued. The chief lives at 1219 Hillside.

Council threw out the proposed rezoning.

JAMES SINCLAIR
... height of folly to dam the Fraser

Sinclair Endorses Fraser Dam Stand

Federal government's stand on hydro development on the Fraser River was endorsed Thursday by former fisheries minister James Sinclair.

Addressing the Victoria Rotary Club at a luncheon in the Empress Hotel, he reiterated former statements that dams on the Fraser would kill the $34,000,000 industry.

"Every device known to engineering science has been tried," he said, and none are effective.

Mr. Sinclair said that development of the Columbia and Peace Rivers, thermal electricity, and nuclear power would make it unnecessary to use the Fraser.

"The American Corps of Engineers," he said, "has spent over $15,000,000 on fishways in the Columbia."

"They have only one real drawback—they don't work."

"With all these alternative sources of power it would be the height of folly to dam the Fraser and lose this source of food which will be able."

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE BREAKS DOWN FAT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fat... actually breaks it down. It is an established medical fact that when liver bile is added to fatty acids, the fat is broken down and forms a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your body, precious liver bile helps break down fat the same way. Many foods reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down this fat... unblocks it... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills exclusive formula of natural, vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat in your body.

No. 1 export. She is headier than wine and comes in a prettier container than champagne. What's more, she doesn't have to be iced, which saves a lot of time and effort. The plot is evidently a mixture of French and Italian, the two nations who united to make the film. It is strictly boudoir drama that goes from bed to worse as Brigitte, the daughter of French prime-minister Andre Luguet, runs her father's aide, Henri Vidal to earth. No mean feat this, either, for Henri appears to have more mistresses than the kings of France combined and is so busy that one can't help but wonder how he finds time to dress for his diplomatic career.

There's more to the plot of Annette Wademant and Jean Aurel's screen play than this, of course. For instance, Henri and Brigitte try their best to make one another jealous, he with his myriad conquests and she with Prince Charles Boyer. But it all doesn't matter, not really. All that matters is Brigitte, who is the picture's alpha and omega. It is even said that the scenic views of Paris and rural France are exquisite in their color. Most men won't even remember them.

IN THEIR SEARCH for domestic cash and U.S. and Canadian dollars the French and Italian financiers who backed the film knew what they had and let everyone see it. There is Brigitte readying for her bath, Brigitte in dresses that

RESIGNATION from Royal Navy of Earl Mountbatten of Burma was official Thursday as the 58-year-old admiral of the fleet ended 46 years service to take up post as chief of defence staff.

If they had been any lower would have been skirts, Brigitte in nighties, in a bikini that looked as though it had been pasted on.

In brief, "La Parisienne" is a sophisticated shot of foreign malarkey that is a whale of a lot of fun, intended for adults only, and for those whose tastes run to this sort of fare. Can she act, you ask? That's like watching Ted Williams bat and asking if he can pitch. Who cares?

IN SEVEREST TEST OF 1941

St. George Symbol 'Stood With Them'

The spirit of St. George's Day met its severest test in 1941 when England and her allies engaged in a titanic struggle against overwhelming odds, Norman Cribbens of the Victoria Times told the Royal Society of St. George, Victoria branch, Thursday night.

Replying to the toast of England, St. George and Shakespeare, he said:

"That day in April, 18 years ago, was perhaps the most momentous in the history of England's patron saint, for the Nazi fury was rising to its height and death and destruction rained down on the people of England.

"The symbol of St. George stood with them in that perilous time and a battered but unbroken Britain emerged from the flames."

NEW TWIST

Mr. Cribbens recalled that the epic naval battle of Zebrugge was fought on St. George's Day 1918 and on that day the ancient toast was given a new twist when Admiral Sir Roger Keyes signalled to his fleet the message:

"Saint George for Merrie England and let's give the eagle's tail a damn good twist."

On St. George's Day, he said, it was fitting to recall the advances towards freedom first won in England—freedom of speech, freedom of the press, the parliamentary system, habeas corpus and trial by jury.

51,000 MEN

Responding to the toast of The Forces, Flight Lieut. Milton Agate of the RCAF said the Korean War prompted Canada to build a bigger air force and the total strength is now 51,000 men.

When the RCAF was formed on April 1, 1923, it had only 65 officers and 200 men.

He told how Canadian aircraft and air crew had contributed to NATO strength and predicted Canada would have an important role to play in the jet age now underway.

"We are involved in a partnership with NATO and as long as there is a Royal Air Force we can be sure there will be a Royal Canadian Air Force, keeping pace with technological advances in all countries."

Dick Batey, replying to the toast of Canada, made the comparison that whereas Britain has a population of 52,000,000 people living in an area of 94,000 square miles, Canada has only 17,000,000 people and an area of 4,000,000 square miles.

DEVELOP RESOURCES

"Canada has prospered and developed because she has always bred, or imported, a remarkably large number of intelligent, rugged and resourceful men and women," he said.

"We are a big country with a small population and we cannot expect to hold all the wealth and resources we have unless we have the courage to develop them."

Frank P. Boucher, branch president, was in the chair and Mrs. B. Parsons, honorary secretary, read greetings from St. George societies in England, France, Canada, the United States, South America and Mexico.

Entertainment was contributed by Mrs. James Griffiths, E. W. Symons, Mrs. J. Bull and Kyrie Symons, formerly headmaster of St. Michael's School in Victoria.

SCHOOL BAND NIGHT AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

Spirit, Teamwork Impresses

By AUDREY JOHNSON

School bands were on parade Thursday night as the Victoria Music Festival concluded its third day, all of which had been devoted to instrumental music.

Performing before a large audience at Central Junior High School, were Colquitz, S. J. Willis, Central and Lansdowne Junior High School bands and, as sole representative of senior high schools, the band from Victoria High.

Adjudicator William Cole of the University of Washington found much of the playing excellent, all of it good in some aspects, promising in others.

'EXCELLENT'

Greatly impressed by S. J. Willis band, he gave it the "excellent" grading of 90 and 91 (181) for its two selections, making it the winner in the only competition of the evening.

Lansdowne was a good second with total marks of 175, and Central was given third place with 171.

Mr. Cole felt that comparison between these performances and some he had heard recently in Washington was interesting and favorable.

He especially admired the spirit and teamwork demonstrated by the Victoria bands.

Victoria High School received a total of 180 marks in the class for senior high schools. Student conductor Renee Clark was given an individual marking of 92 for her work as leader of Victoria High in the last selection of the evening.

ENCOURAGING

String classes held during Thursday afternoon at St. Andrew's Hall were most encouraging for those interested in the orchestral future of this city. While not great in numbers, contestants, from the youngest to the most advanced, revealed splendid talent and highly competent training.

First bursary in this festival was awarded by adjudicator Clifford Evens in the Performer's Solo Violin class. David Goodenough won the Musical Art Society's $50 bursary for his performance of the first movement from Bach's Concerto No. 1. His mark was 85.

Further results follow. Senior High School Orchestras—Victoria High, 167. Senior High String Ensemble—Victoria High Quartet, 165; Victoria High Ensemble, 160.

Preparatory Solo, violin—Helen Oht, 161; Linda Sanford, 160. Elementary Solo, violin—Vivienne Abbott, 164; Lorraine Ward, 162; Ann Tracy, 160. Junior Solo—Barbara Ann Court, 169. Elementary Sight Reading and Quick Study—Ann Tracy, 161. Junior Sight Reading and Quick Study—Barbara Ann Court, 168.

They Did But Then They Didn't

'Double-Take'
By City Council

City council did and didn't Thursday.

It did decide to make an 8.2 per cent wage increase for its "inside staff" retroactive to Jan. 1, in line with established practice.

It didn't accept a unanimous conciliation board award recommending this action.

Reason for double stand-ard was legal.

The conciliation board orig-inally recommended the in-crease take effect March 1. Later, reconstituted by the labor department, it unani-mously amended the date to Jan. 1, explaining it had made an inadvertent error.

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady advised council he did not think the second award was valid or binding on the city.

SAVE $6,000

Ald. A. I. Curtis proposed that the city stick to the let-ter of the first award and save $6,000 by not paying the increase for the first two months. He said otherwise council would be setting a dangerous precedent which might be embarrassing later.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow took the opposite stand. He point-ed out that the city had al-ways dated its union contracts at Jan. 1 in the past and the conciliation board itself had said it made an error when it recommended March 1.

'LEGALLY RIGHT'

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot said Ald. Curtis' proposal in effect held "morally we might be wrong, but legally we are right."

Mayor Percy Scurrell came to the rescue with the para-doxical solution.

Reject the conciliation board's corrected award—thus standing by council's legal rights—but make the award fully retroactive as a matter of grace—thus standing by council's moral obligations.

Council followed the advice, probably avoiding litigation over the date if it had refused to make the increase retroac-tive to Jan. 1.

Man Denies Stripping Saanich Home

Ex-Victorian Edward Mel-ville Doyle Smith, about 35, elected trial by magistrate and pleaded not guilty in Saanich police court Thursday in con-nection with a $12,000 theft 16 months ago.

He was charged Monday with breaking, entering and theft at the home of R. W. Craig, 2501 Sinclair, away at the time on holidays. It was four days before Christmas.

Smith faces a charge of breaking entering and theft of about $1,000 worth of goods from a Sidney area home at about the same time and will appear in Sidney RCMP court for plea Monday.

Magistrate William Ostler remanded him to May 5 in Saanich court.

HOME STRIPPED

Saanich police recovered about $5,000 worth of property allegedly taken from the Craig house, which had been thor-oughly stripped, police said.

Smith was brought here on his release last week from Prince Albert Penitentiary, where he had served a sen-tence for on offence committed in the east.

He is represented by James Proudfoot.

ONE EMIGRANT FOR EVERY 3 IMMIGRANTS

TORONTO (CP) — For every three immigrants arriv-ing in Canada last year at least one Canadian emigrated to the United States, Immigra-tion Minister Fairclough said Thursday night. While 124,581 immigrants were received in Canada in 1958, a total of 45,000 Canadians took up resi-dence in the United States. In the same period 10,846 per-sons came to Canada from the U.S. she told the Toronto chapter of international audi-tors.

500 CIVIL DEFENCE WORKERS IN PAPER EXERCISE

Three-Mile Area 'Flattened' by A-Bomb

At 1.55 p.m. today a one megaton atomic bomb landed in Willows Park, Oak Bay, spreading complete destruction for a three-mile radius.

It was fired from an enemy submarine.

At 1.25 p.m. another one megaton bomb had landed 15 miles due west of Victoria, in the sea.

Casualties were kept to a minimum as Victoria's population had been evacuated to the mutual aid area north of the Malahat.

Exceptions were the 11,000 persons who refused to be alarmed when the attack warning came.

MONTE ROBERTS

At approximately 1.30 p.m. Thursday, in the living room of my modest little dwelling, it happened.

At first, I thought I must have been imagining things. Then I realized it was true; that what was happening on television was nothing less than the destruction of Ripple Rock all over again!

I can only hope and trust I was the only member of the former Save Ripple Rock Association (now known as the Replace Ripple Rock Association) who saw this foul thing on the TV screen.

I would not wish any fellow member to suffer, as I suffered, while I once again watched this noble rock blown (Vuh-ROOOM) into bits and pieces.

What is worse, the narrator who described the nefarious scene did so in tones so boastful, with phrases so unctuous, that only thoughts of the cost of picture tubes restrained me from taking violent action against the set itself.

But what is far, far worse still, was the reason the destruction of Ripple Rock (Vuh-ROOOM) was being paraded across the television screens of the nation.

The dastardly idea behind this reproduction of the Ripple Rock disaster was to produce a TV commercial!

And do you know what the commercial was advertising?

The commercial was advertising the very explosives which blew up Ripple Rock on that black Saturday in April, 1958.

Do you wonder that I suffered while this dastardly commercial ground on, and on, and on.

Like a rabbit fascinated by a snake, I could not even summon the will to turn the set off.

But even as I sat there, suffering, I thought constructive thoughts about Ripple Rock.

I realized why the Save Ripple Rock Association failed. It was impossible to buck big business. I realized, too, that the whole purpose of blowing up the Rock at a cost of $3,000,000 was to produce a TV commercial.

And I came to a conclusion with regard to the Replace Ripple Rock Association.

If we can only get the Glue Trust interested in pasting it back together again for television...

This, in theory, is the local picture in Co-operation III, a national civil defence underway today to test communications and staff functions.

The "paper exercise" started at 8 a.m., 5½ hours after evacuation commenced.

Throughout B.C. close to 500 key personnel are participating at control centres in Nanaimo, Abbotsford, Kelowna, Prince George, Nelson, Cranbrook, Kitimat, Powell River, Trail, Prince Rupert and Kamloops.

They are under direction of provincial CD headquarters, Keating Crossroad, where 100 volunteer personnel are co-ordinating activities during the 24-hour crisis.

The situation on the mainland is even more alarming than locally.

At 2.10 p.m., a five megaton bomb from a manned bomber levelled the city. Kitimat had a near miss from a bomb, also fired from a submarine.

There is no way to spot the subs, as ranges are believed to be up to 800 miles for the warheads.

But with the advance warning, Vancouver evacuees were deployed throughout the interior from the staging centre, Chilliwack. CD control headquarters moved to Abbotsford. In the 5½ hours 234,700 persons were cleared from Vancouver—70,000 remained.

Harbor services there, utilizing all available shipping, evacuated 22,000 to Nanaimo, not considered a target area.

Seven hospital trains from Vancouver—each hospital had a co-ordinated disaster plan—pulled out before the bomb drop carrying 7,600 patients, doctors and nurses.

All aircraft was grounded for evacuation purposes.

Throughout B.C. more than 1,000 "ham" operators were doing trojan work in on-the-spot communications.

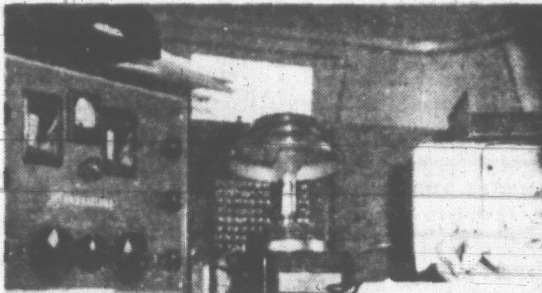

Evacuation started on a direct message from the prime minister, who had been advised through military intelligence that an attack was imminent.

He immediately messaged B.C.'s premier and CD gears meshed. Centre of the country-wide communications is St. Hubert, Quebec.

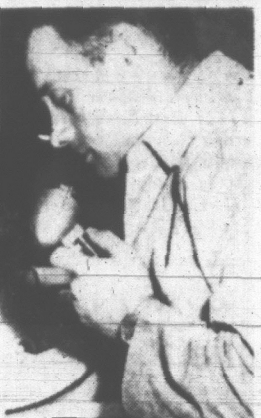

The 1st Battalion, PPCLI, stationed at Work Point Barracks, left the area at first alert, went to Duncan, and will re-enter Victoria shortly to aid survivors that can be found.

It's an "imaginative" operation in every respect, but is of sufficient importance that the U.S. federal government sent an observer to CD headquarters here from CD Region Eight which includes five western states.

And provincial cabinet ministers are meeting in Ottawa today with Health and Welfare Minister Monteith to discuss the entire national civil defence structure.

Instrumental ensembles to be heard will be Jimmy-Crickett's rhythm band, and the brilliant S. J. Willis band.

There will be no classes Saturday, but piano, vocal solo and speech arts sessions will occupy all next week at St. Andrew's Hall, starting Monday morning at 9.

Forty-nine tiny pianists kept Portland, Ore., adjudicator Nellie Tholen busy this morning and continued all afternoon.

Scottish To Try New Rifle

The new F.N. rifle, adopted as standard equipment by all NATO forces, will be used exclusively for the first time by the Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) during annual range classification tests at Camp Greenlight, Nanaimo, Saturday and Sunday.

About 125 officers and men of the Scottish will take part in the classification firing, to qualify as first or second class riflemen.

FAST, ACCURATE

The F.N. rifle is a modified and improved version of a rifle developed in the Netherlands about four years ago, and has extreme accuracy and a high rate of fire.

Firing tests will be carried out from 100 yards to 500 yards. All infantrymen must qualify on the rifle ranges, and the Scottish expect about 80 per cent to earn first class marks over the weekend shoot.

Those who do not will have a chance to try again in about a month.

Equipment was being moved from Victoria to the Greenlight camp today, and personnel will leave Saturday morning.

ALL DAY SUNDAY

Shoots will be held Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday.

Qualification for automatic pistol will also be carried out. Director of the practice, will be Major D. R. Coell, with Major J. S. Grimmon as range officer and administration under Major J. S. Grimmond.

NEW VISITORS' BOOK which will be presented to Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross for new Government House tonight is displayed by George Tucker, 3034 Wascana. Gift of Scottish curlers who visited Victoria in 1957, book will be presented during Curlers' Ball at Victoria Curling Club tonight. Presentation will be made by Mr. Tucker, chairman of committee which arranged Scots' tour.

'Bay' Plans Three-Storey Car Building

A three-storey parking garage is being planned for construction by the Hudson's Bay Co. here.

It will be erected on the department-store's existing parking lot.

An official announcement is expected from the company within a matter of days.

Store officials so far have declined comment but drilling crews have been probing the sub-surface rock layers at the site for some time.

Results of the tests apparently have killed hopes that an underground car park could be constructed on the site.

The project still is in the planning stage and details are skimpy, but it is known to involve a conventional tiered garage.

The company's decision to increase parking facilities for its store is in line with recommendations in the city's downtown improvement program which called for ultimate provision of 500 additional car spaces on the site.

COLD AIR FROM INTERIOR

Frost will strike certain areas of Victoria tonight, weatherman William Mackie said today.

Cold air from the interior, which now covers this area, will drive the thermometer to as low as 30 degrees in sheltered areas, he said. Elsewhere the night-time temperature will vary to as high as 36 degrees, and the maximum Saturday will be 38 degrees.

A cold northeast wind made the morning chilly, but it is expected to have fallen off to "light" by this evening.

Helping to make the cold air feel even colder was low humidity for this area, where dry air usually is modified by the effect of the sea.

At 8 p.m. Thursday the relative humidity was 80 per cent, Mr. Mackie said. At midnight it had dropped to 56 per cent, and by 9 a.m. today it was down to 26 per cent.

Clear skies were predicted for tonight, and Saturday will be sunny with cloudy periods.

Licence Hearing Called 'Farce'

Lawyer, Minister In Heated Clash

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston today was accused of conducting "a farce and a public sham" at a tree farm licence hearing at the Legislative Buildings.

Counsel for Western Forest Management Association, Ronald Howard, protested that Mr. Williston said before the hearing the government had already made up its mind to grant the application in question—that of Canadian Forest Products Ltd. for cutting rights in the Nimpkish Valley of Northern Vancouver Island.

The lawyer was speaking in support of a submission by C. B. Swanson, WFMA representative who filed a brief protesting conduct of the hearing.

Mr. Swanson said: The hearing has not been conducted under terms of the notice in the B.C. Gazette, it has not been conducted in keeping with the regulations of the Public Enquiries Act, witnesses were not sworn and "cross-examination of witnesses was not permitted."

"We fail to see how the honorable minister can acquire facts on which to base his decisions from statements not made under oath and not subject to cross-examination," said Mr. Swanson.

Gordon Sloan had privately indicated he would place future timber licence hearings on a less formal judicial basis.

The minister said he would not hold up the hearing on the CFI application, but would be willing to hear further from Mr. Howard and Mr. Swanson following the hearing.

Mr. Swanson had registered a brief protest Monday when the hearing opened, but was told the minister would only accept submissions on the merits or demerits of the application. But Mr. Swanson and Mr. Howard broached the matter first thing today, when the hearing re-opened.

Mr. Williston said he was accepting the protest, but as minister he had full responsibility for the tree farm licence decision.

He said his actions had been fully ratified by the last session of the legislature. Furthermore, before his death, former government forestry adviser

Mr. Williston's first reaction was to curtail the discussion. He told Mr. Howard he would have to prove that information already received at the hearing was erroneous, or there was reason to doubt it.

Mr. Howard recalled Mr. Williston's description of Mr. Sloan's powers—he was to receive evidence under oath, Mr. Williston replied he had the authority and the right to conduct an enquiry on the present lines, under a clause of the Forests Act. He told Mr. Howard he would "cut him off" if he did not limit his remarks to the application.

Mr. Williston said a new statement of forest policy announced at the last session of the House explained that two or three forest licence applications were pending at the time of Mr. Sloan's death and unless his position was filled, the minister would conduct the hearings.

Mr. Howard refused to be rushed. He recalled that the only type of hearing conducted by Mr. Sloan was with sworn evidence. If with all his knowledge of the industry, Mr. Sloan needed this rule, certainly Mr. Williston should abide by it. And he felt it was on this basis the legislature had authorized Mr. Williston to hold the hearings.

The lands and forests minister denied this. He said he has never intended to hold a formal hearing.

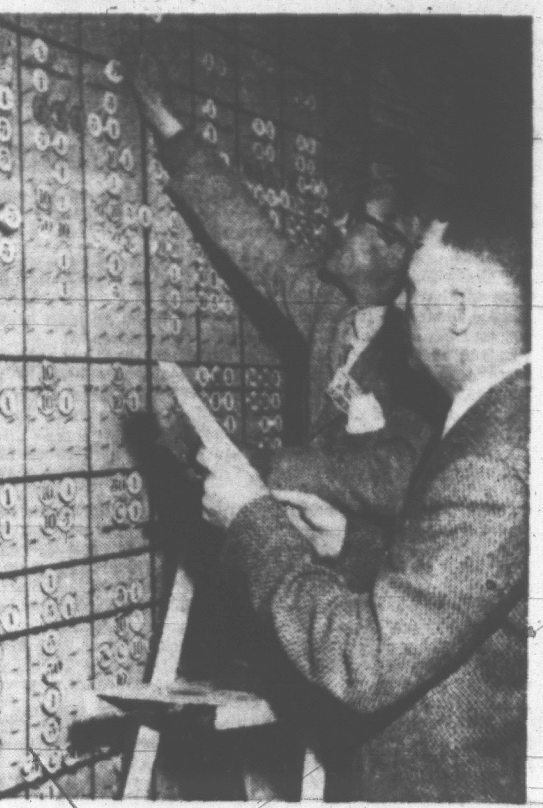

Mr. Howard said in Sloan hearings, "honest witnesses, truthful witnesses, have been destroyed."

He have made statements which could not be substantiated under cross-examination. The pair argued who best knew Mr. Sloan's methods.

"Your tone is critical," said Mr. Howard.

"So is yours," said the minister.

At another point he told Mr. Howard not to raise his voice. Mr. Howard said: "I understand before the hearing you

Zeballos Fears Cut-Off From New Highways

Zeballos Board of Trade today opposed granting of a tree farm licence to Canadian Forest Products Ltd. because it feared the logging operation would isolate the west coast community from proposed northern highway connections.

In a brief to a hearing into the application conducted by Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, the board said the provincial government is committed to a long range plan of highway development for northern Vancouver Island.

Granting of a timber licence in the Nimpkish Valley "will deny us access to such a highway system."

PUBLIC REPORT OUT

"This is proven by the present situations in the Tofino-Port Alberni and Campbell River-Gold River roads, where holders of management licences are denying public access," the brief stated.

Unless there is provision for road contact, "we will be perpetually isolated as regards road contact to the outer world. Mr. Gagliardi (Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi) has concurred with the board in this regard."

SPELL THE END

The board said the northern island should be retained for the public as a tourist and recreation area.

The granting of further licences could easily spell the end of development of tourist attractions on Vancouver Island.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Can you please tell me where I can obtain a legal identification card that will be acceptable for cashing cheques? I have no driver's licence, no unemployment insurance card, and have never worked.—J.L.

A. Unless you are known you are out of luck. Some banks have a card which says a person is a depositor, and of course there is always your bank book. But these two items are also subject to easy falsification and of small value. If you plan a trip, have your bank manager write the manager of the bank where you are going. Or take traveller's cheques.

Q. I recently saw in a magazine where an eyelid was changed to make it wider with a crease in the upper lid. Could you tell me if this operation is possible in Victoria, and where?—A.K.

A. See your doctor for advice.

LOOKS IN VAIN
FOR ESKIMOS

GANDER, Nfld. (CP) — Mary Chowna, end in skirt, sweater and sari, bounced off a plane here, ran up to an RCMP officer and asked:

"Where are the Eskimos?"

A volunteer teacher of the deaf, dumb and blind in India, she came to see first hand how Eskimos live—especially how children go to school.

"In India," she said, "children sit on the hot floors. I would like to contrast the Eskimos' school."

She said that before coming here she thought all the inhabitants were Eskimos.

"Now I would like to go to Labrador where they say there are real Eskimos," Miss Chowna said. "But it would cost too much."

The Indian woman said she had visited many countries. "I finance myself—I'm not a paid worker."

YWCA President Believes
Women Must Work for Peace

By JUDY NICHOLSON

Women can do a great deal to encourage peace through their work in international organizations.

"This is the firm belief of Mrs. Fred Bliss, president of the board of directors of the Victoria YWCA.

"The Y is the largest women's organization in the world," she says, "and it's volume and variety of work is unlimited."

How did Mrs. Bliss become interested in the YWCA? It's simple.

"As a child, I was always a member of some church group. In my teens I belonged to Canadian Girls in Training and inter-denominational girls' clubs. When I became older, my interest in girls' and women's work increased."

FULL TIME JOB

Now as head of the local YWCA, Mrs. Bliss has little time for relaxation. It's a full-time job that includes attending all the association's committee meetings.

"But, I'm as happy as a clam. I love being busy," Mrs. Bliss insists.

This dynamic woman does not confine her talents only to the Y. She's on the board of the Community Chest and does much work with the Victoria Welfare Council.

Her personal life is also one of busy activity.

She spends much of her free time at Royal Colwood Golf Club. This week she is playing in a two-ball foursome at the club. "First year in many that I've had time to enter this tournament," she says.

COLLECTS FURNITURE

Mrs. Bliss and her husband, Capt. Bliss, are apartment dwellers. A wonderful collection of furniture gathered from all over the continent fills the bright, comfortable flat. "When my husband was in the army, we had to travel a lot," Mrs. Bliss laughingly explains. "Every city we went, we would purchase either a piece of china or a piece of furniture. Now we can hardly move around in here."

Captain and Mrs. Bliss enjoy doing things together.

"So much so, that a few years back, he and I got busy and hooked scatter rugs," she declares. "Actually, I just chose the design and color, and Fred did the work. But now we are in an apartment, we don't have enough space for this hobby."

To make up for it, they now play bridge.

"My idea of a good evening is to invite friends in to dinner... because, I'm mad about cooking, then play a few hands of bridge afterward," says Mrs. Bliss.

LOVES MUSIC

Music is also a part of her varied life. "I try not to miss a Victoria Symphony concert," she says.

Then there's church work. "I'm a member of Metropolitan United Church and I try to do a little work there."

Summing up all her activities, Mrs. Bliss says with a twinkle in her bright blue eyes:

"Some people have the wrong interpretation for the word recreation. They think it means only sports and physical activity. My opinion is that recreation covers almost any human interest."

"My recreation?" she questions with a laugh:

"It's going to meetings!"

Florist—Mrs. N. Fitzsimmons gave a talk on floral arrangements at the recent meeting of the Victoria Dental Assistants held in the Strathcona Hotel. Miss Beverley Barwell presided at the dinner meeting.

Twenty-Three Pledges
In Ritual of Jewels

Dignity and charm was evident in the Ritual of Jewels ceremony held by local chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority in Victoria Golf Club Thursday evening.

Mrs. Gwen Carrier, City Council president, conducted the ritual. Twenty-three pledges, holding lighted candles, repeated vows that make them full-fledged members of the sorority, following a study period that extended over six months.

They were Kay Bruner, Elizabeth Kettlewell, Ethel Palmer, Joan Hayward, Helen Netterfield, Marne Andre, Evelyn Downard, Margaret Owen, June McArthur, Jean Donaldson, Gay Lohbeck, Marilyn Farmer, Elizabeth Gidman, Stella Yates, Diane Hele, Joan Wallace, Muriel Gagnon, Margaret Neilson, Jean Fielden, Lois Banks, Helen Court, Shirley-Merley and Willa Coles.

Mrs. Doreen Cochrane, Mrs. Mildren Fisher, Mrs. Pat Campbell, Mrs. Jeanette Sparks, Mrs. Molly Langley and Mrs. Dorothy Prentiss, vice-presidents of local chapters, assisted Mrs. Carrier during the ceremony.

Miss Audrey McCormick, vice-president of City Council, was in charge of arrangements. Mrs. E. Palmer was accompanist.

Earlier in the evening a banquet was held in the club dining room. Mrs. Carrier presided at the head table and seated with her was Mrs. Phyllis Graveley, executive director of Victoria YWCA, who was guest speaker; Mrs. Grace Kingham, City Council social sponsor; Mrs. Maude Gordon and Miss E. L. Forbes, City Council honorary members; Mrs. Velma Larson, Mrs. Joy

SOLUTION MONDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Anita Ellis, who dubbed songs for Rita Hayworth but couldn't sing for herself under her own name, has finally graduated from psychoanalysis—"magna cum couch."

As "standby" for both Pat Suzuki and Annabelle Hong in "Flower Drum Song," Anita went on three times for Pat one weekend recently, then did the completely different role of Miss Hong's when she got ill, then returned to Miss Suzuki's role when she once more got laryngitis.

"I even stopped the show!" Anita boldly admitted. "When I sang 'I Enjoy Being a Girl,' 'Oh, not like Pat does. Oh boy, does she stop it! But I never thought I would.'"

Anita, daughter of a rich Californian who is state bowling champion, dubbed "Gilda" for Miss Hayworth 12 years ago.

For three years she went to an analyst ("lots of people go for 10 or 15 years") who figured out that her father hated her mother's singing because he loved her; thus if people let her sing, she was unloved. Clear, isn't it?

"If you don't get up there on the floor and sing, I'll quit analyzing you," her analyst threatened her when she was at the Blue Angel.

Why, she even had an understudy for herself for the "Fantan Fanny" number which Richard Rogers wrote for her to give her confidence. And as Anita said upon completing her description of how every body looked out there, "Now I'm going to call my analyst and tell him I want my diploma."

Now what about these TV westerns... have you ever figured out why you like them? I have.

First of all, people like to see people get killed. (It's the humanitarian instinct, I suppose you'd say: love of your fellow man.)

Shakespeare was wise to the gimmick and worked a lot of stabbings into his plays.

Bull fights are still popular in Spain and Mexico, and plenty of people are rooting for the bull, too! Cuba has its cock-fights. And at Madison Square

What Is Fire?

Fire is not an animal, a vegetable or a mineral. The proper name for it is a chemical reaction. This means that some kind of action goes on between a number of chemicals. Since just about everything can be called a chemical this is not hard to believe. For the fact that there is action speaks for itself. In a log fire, we can watch a lump of wood change into a handful of ashes. A change of this kind is quite a dramatic chemical reaction.

A chemical reaction may be of two kinds. One uses up energy. The other releases energy. The log of wood was created by a chemical reaction of the first kind. The energy used was sunlight. Through countless sunny days, the green leaves of the tree worked to make plant food. They used water from the soil and gases from the air and bound them together in a secret recipe using sunlight. The sunlight was the energy used to make molecules of plant food.

Some of these molecules went through several more chemical processes and finally became cellulose. This is the tough substance a tree needs to build the cell walls which make its trunk and strong branches. These chemical processes are the kind that use energy to build.

A log of wood is made mostly of cellulose molecules, along with some resins and cements. Let's throw it into a blazing fire. The heat of the fire agitates the various atoms and molecules in the wood. They are soon tearing around at great speeds. The molecules break up into atoms which fly off on their own. The molecules of cellulose are no more.

Energy Freed as Heat

The liberated atoms, however, do not cease to exist. Some of the carbon atoms fly off and join with oxygen atoms in the air. Together, the two gases form carbon dioxide. Some of the hydrogen and oxygen atoms go off as water vapor. A good deal of the carbon goes off as smoke and soot.

The heat and flames of a fire are forms of energy. The energy from sunlight was used to tie the atoms into the bundles we call molecules. The fire untied these bundles and energy was freed as heat. The flames were burning gases.

The chemical reaction of burning is not always as dramatic as a blazing fire. Our bodies use our food by a slow burning process. This too is a chemical reaction which releases energy. The burning process may be slow or fast, but it always needs oxygen. And in the process it always gives off some kind of energy.

Tattooed Marchioness Dies at 79

BELFAST—(Reuters)—The dowager Marchioness of Londonderry, London hostess who had her legs tattooed during her youth, died here Thursday. She was 79.

The marchioness made headlines two years ago by publicly scolding her 21-year-old grandson, the ninth marquis, for commenting in a magazine article that the Queen's voice "is a pain in the neck." He also said she had an easy life.

The old lady exploded: "The Queen works a jolly sight harder than you."

This was a pointed reminder that the marquis had failed his Oxford University entrance examinations four times and his driving test three times.

The dowager marchioness wed the seventh Marquess of Londonderry in 1899 after establishing a reputation as one of the most high-spirited members of London's younger set.

Asked last year about her teen-age cavorting, the marchioness said: "I was very young and very foolish."

She recalled that, in that era, she had a snake and a number of crests tattooed on her legs.

After marriage and five children, the marchioness settled down to become one of London's great political hostesses.

Surgeons Visit Soviet

LONDON (UPI)—A team of British surgeons, anesthetists and operating room technicians sailed for Russia Thursday to demonstrate new heart surgery in Moscow hospitals.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Janice Hattberg, age 12, of Ponda, Iowa, for her question: What plant gives quinine?

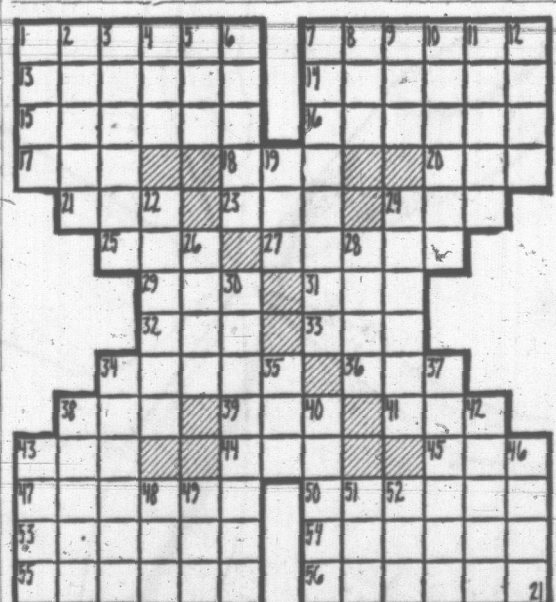

Not so long ago, quinine was the only medicine known for treating the high fever of malaria. The medicine was made from the bark of the cinchona tree, a native of South America. The Spaniards discovered quinine in Peru in the year 1640. The medicine was in such demand in other malarial regions of the world that the cinchona trees of South America were stripped without mercy.

In the 1850's, the Dutch started cultivation of the tree in Java and, 100 years later, most of the world's quinine was coming from the East Indies. In the 1940's, however, the chemists learned to create the medicine artificially. Nowadays, most of the quinine used to treat malaria and high fevers is man-made.

Truckers' Strike In Ontario Ends

TORONTO (CP)—Scores of highway transports rolled out of Toronto Thursday as trucking firms resumed full-scale operations marking the end of a six-day wildcat walkout by 1,500 drivers.

Union representatives and transport operators' spokesmen signalled an end to the tieup Wednesday night when they announced plans to meet today and discuss the drivers' grievances.

College, Hospital Working On Nursing Degree Course

Victoria College is examining the possibility of an arrangement with Royal Jubilee Hospital so four years of training here and one in Vancouver could produce a degree of bachelor of science in nursing.

Judge J. B. Clearihue, chairman of the Victoria College

Council, made the disclosure Thursday in a speech to the Victoria "and Islands" branch, Agricultural Institute of Canada.

"He said the college plans to give three years of applied science, and next winter will see the first class taking third-year arts and education.

Outlining proposed expenditures for new buildings to cost an estimated $3,300,000, he said "if Victoria wants a university, Victoria will have to pay for it."

To raise the necessary money, Victoria would have to contribute $1,500,000, the provincial government a like amount and the Canada Council $300,000, he said.

Cross-Border Kiwans Meet Via Air Waves

In a salute to Canada-United States Goodwill Week, the Kiwanis clubs of Victoria and Berkeley, Calif., will hold a joint meeting via telephone next Tuesday noon.

Microphones and amplifiers connected to telephone lines between the two cities will make the meeting possible.

Emcee for Victoria's 15 minutes of the half hour program will be Hugh Curtis, who will introduce B.C. Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood, and the entertainment team, Betts and Her Buddies.

The Berkeley club will take the first 15 minutes of the time with messages from leading citizens and selections by a choral group.

Man Who Beat Boy On Probation With Treatment

Sentence was suspended in city police court Thursday for a James Bay man who beat a year-old boy April 6.

Ronald Stark, 338 St. James, was placed on six months' probation and $500 bond to be of good behavior, and ordered to take psychiatric treatment for as long as doctors feel is necessary.

He pleaded guilty last week to assault causing bodily harm to George Everett Matson, the son of Kenneth Robert Matson, 1021 Catherine.

The child had been left in the care of Stark's wife while Mrs. Matson was at work and her husband at sea.

Mrs. Stark then left the boy with her husband while she went out to baby-sit for wages. Stark had been unemployed for several months and was upset by the child's crying.

ONE BIG LITTERBAG CURE FOR LITTERBUGS?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ron Gadsby of the B.C. Department of Recreation Thursday explained to a group here how department litterbags will keep highways clean. The department will distribute 250,000 litterbags to motorists this summer and said Mr. Gadsby, now motorists "don't have to throw orange peels or apple cores out the window—just drop them in the bag."

"I get it," said one listener, "when the bag is full you can throw it all out at once."

Snowstorm Hits Prairies

WINNIPEG (CP)—A sudden spring storm swept into the eastern Prairies today after spreading a thick blanket of snow over Alberta's parched forests and grasslands.

The weather office here said a moderately heavy snowfall is expected in Manitoba today although it was unlikely to reach anything like the 14-inch depths recorded in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains Thursday.

Mild temperatures forecast for the afternoon in Manitoba and southern Saskatchewan might change the wet snow to rain later today.

Thursday, Alberta farmers and forestry workers watched happily as the heavy snow tempered threats of a spring drought and forest fires. A lengthy dry spring and a mild winter had raised the danger.

Rocky Mountain House in the foothills reported a 14-inch snowfall late Thursday. Banff had 12 inches, Calgary almost seven and Medicine Hat and Lethbridge, about four each. Swift Current, Sask., reported more than four inches late Thursday.

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

WHAT IS FOREST SIDING?

Made of dry 1 1/2" Stock
8, 10 and 12-inch widths,
"FOREST" Siding is a new type of Siding obtained from specially selected Cedar logs sawn to show the beauty and character of knots, burls, etc.

WHAT ARE ITS QUALITIES?

"FOREST" Siding with its substantial thickness and greater wood volume adds to the structural strength and solidity of the building.

The design of "FOREST" Siding ensures a tight weather seal of the lap which, together with its thickness and flush-to-base principle, makes excellent material from the insulation standpoint.

"FOREST" Siding represents an economy to home-builders. Costing less than most other types of Siding the lap design ensures easy fitting and speedy application at less labor cost.

COMPLETE INSTRUCTIONS

This plan embodies all the advantages of fir plywood construction and is excellent for fishing on bays, lakes, or streams. It is relatively fast and holds four people comfortably.

It is sturdy with 3/4" marine grade Douglas fir plywood planking on sides and bottom. Yet it is easy to build as planking with plywood means a single panel forms each side with two panels covering the bottom.

As the initial step in preparing to build this plywood boat, make a thorough study of the plans, noting carefully the construction details of each station, and reviewing the materials listed in the fir plywood and lumber order.

Obtain the required plywood, lumber and other materials from your local retail lumber dealer.

In ordering plywood, be sure to specify Douglas fir plywood which has completely water proof bond for all outdoor and marine applications.

SIX SIMPLE TIPS OFFERED FOR HAPPY HOURS AFLOAT

To get the most enjoyment out of a boat, assuring safe, carefree hours afloat for the whole family, here are six tips for the skipper:

1. Make sure all hands know how to board your craft without tipping it. Boats do not tip by themselves — careless people tip them.
2. Know your motor, what it will do and what it will not. Learn how to start, stop and change gears and speeds in varying situations. Instruction manuals come with most new motors. The manufacturer will supply you with another if the original is lost.
3. Learn how to leave a dock or mooring under power, make a landing or come alongside another boat. Practice these manoeuvres until you know how to handle your craft expertly.
4. Learn and obey the nautical rules of the road.
5. Be weatherwise. Get the weather forecast before you set out on the water. Learn the weather signs in your home waters. Clouds and wind movements foretell changes in the weather. Keep your radio tuned to weather reports.
6. Learn to read official government charts and always obtain those for the waters in which you are navigating. Safe channels, underwater obstructions and aids to navigation are shown on these "road maps of the waterways."

British Unionist Amazed By New B.C. Labor Law

It is highly unlikely a comparable law to B.C.'s Bill 43 would ever be passed in Great Britain, a young Scottish trade unionist said here today.

Miss Rita Stephen, Glasgow, who is visiting Canada on a British Trade Union Congress scholarship, was a visitor to the Legislative Buildings.

She is a member of the 165,000-member Post Office Workers' Union, which she describes as a civil service union which enjoys full bargaining rights.

"In Britain it is difficult to find a condition when it would be illegal for a strike to take place," said Miss Stephen.

The recent B.C. legislation which makes unions and employer groups legal entities which can be sued for illegal strike or lockout, was surprising to her.

She said the lack of regulations of this sort in Britain "certainly hasn't led to more days lost through strikes."

Trade unionism in Canada has to operate in the light of a number of laws which don't exist in Great Britain.

Miss Stephen, who will address Vancouver Labor Council May 19, but arrived in Victoria between labor council meetings, said she was surprised also by the Canadian trend to negotiate plant by plant.

COOPERATION OF THE DISTRICT OF OAK BAY

Tenders are invited for the rental of a recent model 1/2-ton Pickup Truck for approx. three months. Closing date noon May 1 at the Municipal Hall. Further details may be obtained from the undersigned. Lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

D. L. BROWN, Purchasing Agent.

NOTICE

Under the provisions of Section 700 of the Municipal Act, being Chapter 42 R.S.B.C., the Municipal Council of the District of Central Saanich will hold a Council Meeting to discuss the new Zoning By-law, being By-law 104.

At this meeting all persons who deem themselves affected by the proposed by-law shall be afforded an opportunity to be heard on all matters contained in the by-law.

This meeting will be held at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday, April 26th, 1959, in the Brentwood Women's Institute Hall, West Saanich Road, Brentwood Bay.

Copy of the proposed by-law may be inspected at the Municipal Hall, Saanich, between the hours of 9:00 a.m. to 12:30 noon and 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Mondays to Fridays.

D. A. WOOD, Municipal Clerk, District of Central Saanich.

SEXPOTS, WE KNOW

INDUSTRY, WE DON'T

If Canada is to flourish as an export nation, Canadian businessmen must make a closer study of American industry, says D. Leo Dolan, Canadian consul-general in Los Angeles.

"American industrialists have a close knowledge of Canadian resources," Mr.

LAWYERS

SEE DANGER

IN BILL 43

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two labor lawyers disagreed on the interpretation of several parts of Bill 43 as they went over the new labor legislation section by section at a panel discussion here.

About 350 persons, mainly businessmen, heard the opinions of Alex B. Macdonald, former CCF MP who frequently represents unions in court, and M. McFarlane, who often represents companies.

Both agreed, however, that labor relations would suffer if employers and employees became involved in too many court actions under the legislation.

The two lawyers differed, however, on one of the two main sections of the act.

Mr. McFarlane said the act makes lawful "some forms of picketing that previously would have been unlawful."

Whereas picketing could be declared illegal under previous law if it had an illegal purpose or was conducted illegally, the new act permitted information picketing in regard to a legal strike without regard to motive, he said.

Mr. Macdonald said he doubted if the section "amplifies the right of picketing."

UNION NEGOTIATIONS IN BRITAIN COVER WHOLE SECTIONS OF THE COUNTRY.

Consequently, she felt, Canadian unions require a great many more full-time representatives than are required in her homeland. She noted also that British negotiations are concluded without the lengthy contracts which are required between management and labor here.

NO STRIKES

Miss Stephen was interested in the civil service situation in British Columbia where the government has declined to bestow bargaining rights.

"My own union is a union of civil servants. It hasn't led to bad industrial relations. There has never been a strike since we were fully recognized."

Bargaining is assisted by a civil service arbitration tribunal, she added.

LAW 'FOR BIRDS'

'Robins Is Hard On Berries'

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — An elderly Bremerton man had visions of a patch of plump red strawberries.

So he shot a plump red robin who was molesting his strawberry patch.

He found out the law is for the birds.

Charles Winters, 82, was told by Justice Ron Danielson there is a law against killing songbirds and that he should plant more berries, so the birds could have some.

"Robins just pick out the biggest berry, take a bite out and then take another berry," Winters argued.

"Robins are songbirds," insisted the judge.

"They don't sing," said Winters.

"Well, they're pretty," the judge said.

Thereupon he fined Winters $20 and suspended the fine on condition Winters refrain from shooting any more robins with his rifle.

"Slingshot" asked Winters. "You are not supposed to kill robins," said the judge.

"Robins is hard on berries," sighed Winters.

Mobile art galleries in specially-equipped railway coaches will be a feature of South Africa's 1959 golden jubilee celebrations.

He said if Canadians were as aware of U.S. industrial needs as they are of the vital statistics of Jayne Mansfield and Marilyn Monroe, trade between the two countries would be greatly improved.

"We know all about American movie stars, and the name of the latest Elvis Presley record, but we don't match this with our knowledge of U.S. industry."

Mr. Dolan said he spoke recently before a group of American high school youngsters.

One youth asked him, first, what Canada's federal policy would be in negotiations over power development on the Columbia River and, second, what action the Canadian federal government planned in retaliation for a partial U.S. embargo on lead and zinc.

"I doubt whether I could have answered those questions if I had had the whole cabinet and prime minister beside me," Mr. Dolan said.

"Later I learned that the boy who asked these questions had won the $64,000 TV quiz not long ago."

MORE ROOM FOR BOATS

CHEMAINUS — The Rod and Gun Club has nearly completed the extension of its small boat floats adjacent to Chemainus Towing Co. wharf.

The extension of existing floats and addition of several new ones will provide accommodation for about 20 more boats. Between 55 and 60 boats, all belonging to club members, will be moored at the club floats this year.

Victoria Daily Times Silhouette Contest

Silhouette Contest Rules

1. The Silhouette Contest is simple and easy to enter. It consists of 60 silhouette drawings of widely known persons and 150 pictures. All you have to do is identify the silhouettes, not by name but by pairing them with pictures of the people you think are portrayed in the silhouettes. Each person shown in silhouette will be shown by picture but not necessarily on the same day. In addition there will be 60 pictures of other persons who will not be shown in silhouette drawings. Thus you will have 150 pictures from which to make your 60 selections to go with the 60 silhouettes. Keep the 60 left over pictures. They will be needed for the final Silhouette Scramble.

2. The contest starts on Saturday, March 7, 1959. Each day for 60 days one silhouette and two pictures will be printed. After you have paired a silhouette with a picture, paste or in some way fasten the matching pair on a single sheet of paper. All 60 sheets are to be brought together in order and each sheet should bear your name.

3. The Times will award $750 in cash prizes to the winners. There are no entry fees. The prizes are:

1. $500

2. $100

3. $50

and four prizes of $25 each.

4. The contest is open to all residents of Vancouver Island with the exception of employees of the Times and Victoria Press Ltd. and members of their families. Not more than one prize will be awarded in any one immediate family.

5. By entering the contest, the participant agrees to accept the decision of the judges as final.

6. Address entries to Silhouette Contest, Victoria Daily Times, 3011 Douglas Street, Victoria. All entries must be postmarked not later than Monday, May 11. Entries must be sent with first class postage fully paid, since The Times cannot be responsible for entries delayed because of improper address or insufficient postage, or for any other reason not received at The Times in due time.

7. A Silhouette Scramble will be published with Silhouette No. 41. This will consist of a number of silhouettes which are to be identified from the regular contest. This Silhouette Scramble will be used by the judges ONLY in case of ties. If ties exist in the regular contest, then these contestants making the best scores in the Silhouette Scramble will be declared winners.

8. Address entries to Silhouette Contest, Victoria Daily Times, 3011 Douglas Street, Victoria. All entries must be postmarked not later than Monday, May 11. Entries must be sent with first class postage fully paid, since The Times cannot be responsible for entries delayed because of improper address or insufficient postage, or for any other reason not received at The Times in due time.

9. By entering the contest, the participant agrees to accept the decision of the judges as final.

'Every Night Halloween' for City's Rowdies

By JOHN MIKA

Every night is Halloween in Greater Victoria for a booming population of juvenile delinquents. And it is primarily the fault of parents, a panel of experts told some 30 members of the B.C. Association of Social Workers, South Vancouver Island branch, Thursday night in the City Welfare Centre.

The panel was asked three questions about the problem of juvenile delinquency in this area.

Is Delinquency Increasing?

"The increase in our court work has blossomed four-fold in Victoria," said city juvenile officer Lyle Somers. "It has jumped from 125 cases in 1949 to 500 cases last year."

"That's just court cases. Actual delinquency triples that."

Sgt. Victor Pratley, Oak Bay juvenile officer, said the average annual increase in delinquency has been 342 per cent during the past decade.

"That seems ridiculous. But those are the figures," Harry Adams, Saanich juvenile officer, said 20 cases of juvenile delinquency in 1949 grew to 242 in 1958 "and we're just touching the surface."

"Each year the number seems to be doubling," he said. So far this year there have been 155 cases and I'm sure that in a month or two we will have had the same number as for all of last year."

Whose Fault Is It?

"Lack of control by the parents," said Mr. Adams. "Sometimes a mother will phone me to say her child is definitely beyond her control—and the child is only five years old!"

"Every night is Halloween here. Juvenile delinquents have no respect for property. They'll smash things and steal. And when you ask them why, the only answer you get is, 'For something to do.'"

He said many parents don't know where their children are at night or who their companions are.

Mr. Somers said parents "continually blame society but they forget they are society."

"Children are what parents make them. Some parents think you have children and that's it—they will grow up all by themselves. Well, they don't."

He said teachers were unfairly blamed for the problem. "How can you blame teachers when they have the children for only five hours of the day and the parents have them for the other 19?"

The juvenile officers also criticized the junior high school system as a producer of trouble-makers because it is too large and unwieldy for keeping pace with the individual child's needs.

But they agreed with Mary King, deputy B.C. superintendent for child welfare, that there are many causes for juvenile delinquency.

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot said he felt society was to blame because it had broken up the family unit and demoralized parents.

He said home life "was completely destroyed" by the two world wars and the tremendous expansion of Canada's economy.

"Today we have a very false standard of living and to keep up to that standard the mother must go out to work to pay the bills."

He said this caused juvenile delinquency and was one of the "ways in which we are paying for our economic standards."

What Is the Solution?

All agreed that there is no single solution but that a single juvenile judge with jurisdiction over family squabbles too would be a vital step towards improving the situation in Greater Victoria.

Mr. Somers and Mr. Pratley disagreed that a unified juvenile and family court itself would be of any particular benefit but they said appointment of a single judge and a probation staff is needed desperately.

Miss King and Mr. Adams went further and said a unified court, providing a central and larger administrative unit, would unfold greater possibilities of helping delinquents.

"I think by having four courts at present, we are not being fair to the children," said Mr. Adams. "I'm for a single court and a single set of files so we can do a better job."

DRESSING UP THE RIGGING

Montreal's waterfront is bustling with activity today as ships are spruced up for big day Saturday when St. Lawrence Seaway is opened to traffic.

Historic Channel In Use Saturday

(From Times News Services)

More than 50 ships anchored over 30 miles of river are ready to pass through the $475,000,000 St. Lawrence Seaway on its opening Saturday and sail on into the Great Lakes.

Many of the ships, representing almost every maritime nation, will be the first large ocean-going ships to reach the Great Lakes.

Elaborate ceremonies are being prepared to greet the vessels as they enter various harbors.

The ships are anchored in about the order they will start through the canal. They will be led into the canal by the ice-breakers d'Iberville and Montcalm, carrying members of Parliament and the Senate and honored guests.

It is reported that Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who was not slated to be on the ships, may change his mind and join the convoy.

Toronto has planned a big ceremony for the first ships arriving there. Plaques and medallions will be given to the first ships, foreign and Canadian. Some ship captains are reported worried about overcrowding in the ports. They say the delay in opening the canal because of ice has caused a pileup and further delay and additional expense will be caused in the ports. But port officials say they will have wharf and terminal facilities to handle all shipping once the initial rush is over.

At Lanoraie, Que., St. Lawrence River pilots reversed themselves and agreed to take the 9,815-ton Norwegian tanker Olav Ringdahl Jr., loaded with Russian benzol, through the canal without lightening her. The ship draws 23 feet, about 1.6 feet less than the seaway's navigating depth—a little too close for comfort, according to the pilots.

Today sailors painted and scrubbed their ships, and ran up colorful flags.

The first "working ship" to use the seaway, the 36-year-old Canadian lake freighter Simcoe, will inch into the lock opposite Montreal harbor. It will signal realization of a 60-year-old dream and mark completion of a campaign for a deep-water inland route that will stretch as far as Chicago and Duluth, Minn.

Although the United States is paying one-third of the seaway's construction costs, only two American freighters were destined to be among the initial armada that uses it.

Saturday's working opening will be followed by a more formal ceremony June 26, when Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower come here to officially put the seaway on the map of world trade routes.

One firm, which operates fresh-water pleasure boats as well as some of the lake freighters that will be the first through the locks, prepared today to cash in on people's curiosity. It advertised a $99.50 return trip June 8-11 that will take sightseers through the seaway system to Lake Ontario and back to Montreal.

A resolution placed on the Commons order paper by Labor Minister Starr said another amendment to the Unemployment Insurance Act would provide that maximum benefits be paid over 52 weeks instead of 36 as at present.

The resolution gives no details of proposed higher benefits or rates of contribution. No indication was given of the date the proposed changes would be made effective.

However, reports in Ottawa state that the top benefit may be increased to $36 a week from $30. The existing $4,500-a-year income ceiling for insurance coverage may also be increased to $5,500.

Rotodyne Plant Seen At Pat Bay

The famous Rotodyne helicopter will be manufactured at the Fairey Aviation plant at Patricia Bay if there are sufficient Canadian orders for it, G. W. Hall, chairman of the parent Fairey Company in England, said here today.

He also stated his opinion that the Rotodyne would be "ideal" for a fast air service between Victoria and Vancouver.

Mr. Hall, a skilled aeronautical engineer, said he will spend a week inspecting the Pat Bay plant to decide how it could be expanded and adapted to manufacture of the Rotodyne.

"We have all the necessary basic equipment at our Pat Bay and Halifax plants; it is therefore a matter of the demand justifying the expenditure," he said.

He stated that "a great number of people out here" would like to see the Rotodyne in operation between Victoria and Vancouver, but declined to name them at present.

LABOR MINISTER STARR ... meeting considered

ARMS CACHE DISCOVERED IN PANAMA

PANAMA CITY (AP)—National guardsmen today reported finding a second cache of arms on the beach where Roberto Arias and a rebel band landed six days ago.

Arias, fugitive husband of ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn, still was eluding patrols.

The rebels were believed well armed in their hideout.

'IN TWO OR THREE DAYS'

Ottawa May Act On CNR Strike

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Starr indicated today that the government will step into the CNR strike threat situation.

He informed Opposition Leader Pearson in the Commons that the situation is being watched closely and "we are contemplating some meetings in the next two or three days."

Through he did not say so, the meetings presumably would be with CNR officials and representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC) which has threatened to strike the CNR May 1.

Paul Martin (L-Exeter East) noted that the firemen's chief, W. E. Gamble, is in Ottawa today conferring with Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, and suggested that Mr. Starr meet Mr. Gamble today.

Mr. Starr said he realizes the seriousness of the situation. But he wanted to give the union chiefs time for full consultation.

Officials in Victoria say the increase will be more "modest" and guessed between 12 and 25 cents on the average.

It was anticipated that the tax would mean a price increase of about 12 cents for a 25-ounce bottle but some distillers estimated the increase would be closer to 25 cents at the retail level.

Nehru Seeks to Reconcile Tibetan God-King and Reds

MUSSOORIE, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today invited Chinese Communist representatives and their puppet ruler of Tibet, the Panchen Lama, to visit the Dalai Lama at his refuge here.

Nehru said he hoped the Dalai Lama, Tibet's 23-year-old spiritual and temporal ruler, would return to Lhasa, the Tibetan capital. It was an obvious bid to reconcile the Red Chinese government and the Tibetan god-king, who fled from the Communist domination of his homeland.

Nehru has refused to condemn the Chinese Communists for the repression of the Tibetan rebellion. But he has said India's sympathies are with the Tibetans and that autonomy, or local self-government, is the only ultimate solution for the situation in Tibet.

Chinese Nationalists in Taipei reported today resistance to Communist rule has been growing in the Chinese province of Sinkiang since the revolt in Tibet.

Government sources quoted an intelligence report as saying the Communists were taking savage measures.

The report said that in March the Communists arrested more than 4,000 persons in the main cities of the province and executed most of them.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has definitely curtailed his visit to Canada, and will only stay a few hours in Montreal.

Conchita Fernandez, private secretary to Castro, said the Cuban prime minister will not have time to fulfill all his scheduled visits at this time, and will be in Montreal from Sunday afternoon until early Monday morning, before returning to Havana.

Meantime, Mr. Hall is conferring with Glenn MacPherson, president of Okanagan Helicopters, who placed an order for the Rotodyne last September.

ECONOMIC FUTURE PATH FOR B.C. OIL-EXPERT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pipeline plans for north-western British Columbia and Alberta open an "economic future path" for B.C. oil to come to the coast, a pipeline engineer said Thursday.

Charles D. Bailey, chief engineer for Trans-Mountain Oil Pipe Line Co., which has a pipeline from Alberta to Vancouver, explained the plans.

He said a proposed Peace River pipeline, which would connect with the Trans-Mountain line at Edmonton, Alta., "appears to lie on a route strategically planned to tap the great new areas of discovery..."

$50 MILLION B.C. PLANT

Celgar to Introduce Unique New Methods

NELSON (CP)—Two processes unique in the British Columbia pulp industry will be used in Celgar Limited's $50-million plant at Castlegar, company secretary Ian H. Barclay said Thursday.

He said the kraft pulp mill will use two Kamyr continuous digesters, first of their kind in B.C., and an Airborne Flakt dryer, which passes pulp sheets back and forth in the drying room by air jets.

Mr. Barclay, who spoke to the local chamber of commerce, said about 325 men will be needed to operate the mill.

The company's construction program for 1959, he said, will involve expenditure of about $9,000,000 and open commitments for a further $10,000,000.

More than 100 workers would be needed by June this year and the figure would reach more than 800. At the peak construction period in April, 1960, more than 1,200 would be employed, he said.

Mr. Barclay reiterated assurances that the lives and health of Columbia water consumers will not be endangered by pulp mill effluent.

"From an effluent point of view," he said, "the Columbia River presented great advantages."

The small portion which is put back into the river is extremely dilute, even under minimum flow conditions.

Mr. Barclay said the pulp mill will use 40,000,000 gallons of water daily, compared with the City of Vancouver's consumption of 47,000,000 gallons a day.

Thursday night the Canadian delegates were guests at a reception by Canadian Ambassador Arnold Heeney and Mrs. Heeney.

The gold industry's case is that at the present price of $35 an ounce there isn't enough gold to support the vastly increased amounts of international currency.

So far, the United States is pretty well in the driver's seat on the question, being the steady market for gold at the fixed price. And he declared policy is against any increase.

This is hard on the gold industry—which has to operate under a price fixed in the early 1930s despite increases in production.

Three-Mile Area 'Flattened' by A-Bomb

At 1.55 p.m. today a one megaton atomic bomb landed in Wilfords Park, Oak Bay, spreading complete destruction for a three-mile radius.

It was fired from an enemy submarine.

At 1.25 p.m. another one megaton bomb had landed 15 miles due west of Victoria, in the sea.

Casualties were kept to a minimum as Victoria's population had been evacuated to the mutual aid area north of the Malahat.

Exceptions were the 11,000 persons who refused to be alarmed when the attack warning came.

MONTE ROBERTS

At approximately 7.30 p.m. Thursday, in the living room of my modest little dwelling, it happened.

At first, I thought I must have been imagining things. Then I realized it was true, that what was happening on television was nothing less than the destruction of Ripple Rock all over again!

I can only hope and trust I was the only member of the former Save Ripple Rock Association (now known as the Replace Ripple Rock Association) who saw this foul thing on the TV screen.

I would not wish any fellow member to suffer, as I suffered, while I once again watched this noble rock blown (Vuh-ROOOM) into bits and pieces.

What is worse, the narrator who described the nefarious scene did so in tones so boastful, with phrases so unctuous, that only thoughts of the cost of picture tubes restrained me from taking violent action against the set itself.

But what is far, far worse still, was the reason the destruction of Ripple Rock (Vuh-ROOOM) was being paraded across the television screens of the nation.

The dastardly idea behind this reproduction of the Ripple Rock disaster was to produce a TV commercial!

And do you know what the commercial was advertising?

The commercial was advertising the very explosives which blew up Ripple Rock on that black Saturday in April, 1958.

Do you wonder that I suffered while this dastardly commercial ground on, and on, and on.

Like a rabbit fascinated by a snake, I could not even summon the will to turn the set off.

But even as I sat there, suffering, I thought constructive thoughts about Ripple Rock.

I realized why the Save Ripple Rock Association failed. It was impossible to back big business. I realized, too, that the whole purpose of blowing up the Rock at a cost of $3,000,000 was to produce a TV commercial.

And I came to a conclusion with regard to the Replace Ripple Rock Association.

If we can only get the Glue Trust interested in pasting it back together again for television...

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet at 1.30 p.m. on Saturday at the Monterey Restaurant parking lot for a work "bee" at its Beaver Lake tree plot.

Gary Austin Dickinson, 2651 Ansonby, was fined $10 and $5 costs in Colwood RCMP court Wednesday for being a minor in possession of liquor.

Charged with theft under the value of $50, Kerry Gordon Greenwood, 18, 1298 Derby Road, was remanded in Saanich police court without plea until next Tuesday. He is accused of stealing pliers and a safety hat.

For driving a car without a licence plate and for failing to answer a court summons, Rolando Sarfiorious, 1418 Fernwood, was fined $25 and $3.50 costs in city police court today.

Proposed installation of piles and luminaires to provide a lighting system for the yacht floats in the Inner Harbor was approved by city council Thursday.

Obstruction Trial Awaits Third Officer

Trial of Larry Montgomery, 20, charged with obstructing a police officer, was adjourned by Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today until Monday to permit a police officer to give evidence on a street disturbance at Yates and Douglas last Saturday.

The police officer, Cons. A. W. Cave, who was present when Cons. John Burdny and Cons. Brian Ferguson arrested Montgomery was not called upon to give evidence.

City prosecutor T. P. O'Grady said he did not call Cons. Cave because he did not think he could contribute anything towards the case.

"It is astonishing that an officer who was there is not here," said Magistrate Ostler. "In view of the seriousness of the offence, I feel he should be heard."

Earlier, Cons. Burdny told the court that Montgomery hit him on the jaw when he stopped to question the accused and two other young men.

Motorist Edward Gray, 784 Fairview, was sentenced in city police court today to seven days in jail for driving without a licence.

He was also fined $40 for giving a false statement to police and $25 for using a driver's licence belonging to another person.

Gray has been convicted on three previous occasions of driving without a licence, court was told.

"It appears that a fine does you no good," said Magistrate William Ostler.

Edward C. Becroft, 201 Battleford, was fined $25 in city police court today for failing to heed a police siren and an additional $20 for weaving in and out of traffic.

Winners of the weekly tournament of the Allmesters' Duplicate Bridge Club were: Ethel Cleworth and George Beale tied first with Marjorie Beale and Dick Lipsey; Liliane Labutt and Kay Davies, third; and Elizabeth Warren and Harry Parry, fourth.

Annual installation of officers of the Toastmaster Club No. 38 was held at the Pacific Club Thursday, with area governor Vic Gilbert as installing authority.

Officers for 1959 are: Jack Sutherland, president; Henry Jack, vice president; Bob Jude, administrative vice-president; Douglas MacGregor, secretary; Eric Hagen, treasurer; Dave Holbrook, sergeant-at-arms.

Harold Cliff was presented with the Gazelles trophy for the best 10-minute speech of the year.

A disabled 79-year-old pensioner, Harry Phillips, was remanded by Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today until May 1 for trial on a charge of pointing a revolver at Rose Leking, his landlady, 1325 Johnson Street.

The magistrate ordered that Phillips be medically examined.

Assistant publicity commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau Cy Porter will address a meeting of the Victoria Gyro Club on benefits of the tourist business Monday noon at the Empress Hotel.

This, in theory, is the local picture in Co-operation 111, a national civil defence underway today to test communications and staff functions.

The "paper exercise" started at 8 a.m. 5 1/2 hours after evacuation commenced.

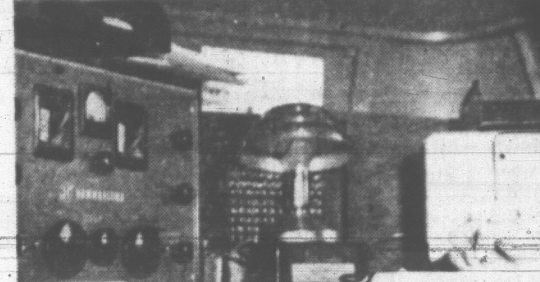

Throughout B.C. close to 500 key personnel are participating at control centres in Nanaimo, Abbotsford, Kelowna, Prince George, Nelson, Cranbrook, Kitimat, Powell River, Trail, Prince Rupert and Kamloops.

They are under direction of provincial CD headquarters, Keating Crossroad.

At 2.10 p.m. a 5 megaton bomb from a manned bomber levelled the city. Kitimat had a near miss from a bomb, also fired from a submarine.

There is no way to spot the subs, as ranges are believed to be up to 800 miles for the warheads.

But with the advance warning, Vancouver evacuees were deployed throughout the interior from the staging centre, Chilliwack. CD control headquarters moved to Abbotsford. In the 5 1/2 hours 234,700 persons were cleared from Vancouver—70,000 remained.

Harbor services there, utilizing all available shipping, evacuated 22,000 to Nanaimo, not considered a target area.

Seven hospital trains from Vancouver—each hospital had a co-ordinated disaster plan—pulled out before the bomb drop carrying 7,600 patients, doctors and nurses.

All aircraft was grounded for evacuation purposes.

Throughout B.C. more than 1,000 "ham" operators were doing trojan work in on-the-spot communications.

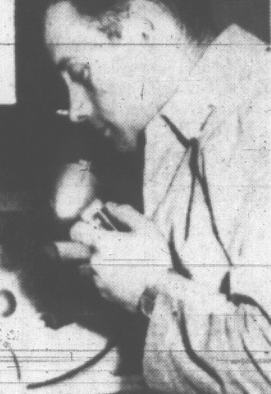

Evacuation started on a direct message from the prime minister, who had been advised through military intelligence that an attack was imminent.

He immediately messaged B.C.'s premier and CD gears meshed. Centre of the country-wide communications is St. Hubert, Quebec.

The 1st Battalion, PPCLI, stationed at Work Point Barracks, left the area at first alert, went to Duncan, and will re-enter Victoria shortly to aid survivors that can be found.

It's an "imaginative" operation in every respect, but is of sufficient importance that the U.S. federal government sent an observer to CD headquarters here from CD Region Eight which includes five western states.

And provincial cabinet ministers are meeting in Ottawa today with Health and Welfare Minister Monteith to discuss the entire national civil defence structure.

'Honors' On Stage Tonight

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Delightful school choral singing that has impressed Vancouver adjudicator Glyndwr Jones as being charming and excellent as any he has heard in school festivals, will be "on parade" tonight for parents and friends and the music-conscious public.

High ranking choirs from elementary and junior high schools will be featured in a special Music Festival concert at Central Junior High School. In addition outstanding instrumental groups have been invited to add variety and color to the program.

Choral groups will come from Jimmy Creek Kindergarten, representing Grade 1; Cordova Bay School, Grade 2; Oaklands, Grade 3; St. Ann's Academy, Grades 4 and 5; Tolmie School, composite choir; Lansdowne Junior High boys' choir and Central's Girls' choir.

Instrumental ensembles to be heard will be Jimmy Creek's rhythm band, and the brilliant S. J. Willis band.

There will be no classes Saturday, but piano, vocal solo and speech arts sessions will occupy all next week at St. Andrew's Hall, starting Monday morning at 9.

Forty-nine tiny pianists kept Portland, Ore., adjudicator Nellie Tholen busy this morning and continued all afternoon.

Scottish To Try New Rifle

The new F.N. rifle, adopted as standard equipment by all NATO forces, will be used exclusively for the first time by the Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) during annual range classification tests at Camp Greenlight, Nanaimo, Saturday and Sunday.

About 125 officers and men of the Scottish will take part in the classification firing, to qualify as first or second class riflemen.

FAST, ACCURATE

The F.N.'s used is a modified and improved version of a rifle developed in the Netherlands about four years ago, and has extreme accuracy and a high rate of fire.

Firing tests will be carried out from 100 yards to 500 yards. All infantrymen must qualify on the rifle ranges, and the Scottish expect about 80 per cent to earn first class marks over the weekend shoot.

Those who do not will have a chance to try again in about a month.

Equipment was being moved from Victoria to the Greenlight camp today, and personnel will leave Saturday morning.

ALL DAY SUNDAY

Shooting will be held Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday.

Qualification for automatic pistol will also be carried out. Director of the practice will be Major D. R. Coell, with Major J. S. Grimmon as range officer and administration under Major J. S. Grimmond.

NEW VISITORS' BOOK which will be presented to Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross for new Government House tonight is displayed by George Tucker, 3034 Wascana. Gift of Scottish curlers who visited Victoria in 1957, book will be presented during Curlers' Ball at Victoria Curling Club tonight. Presentation will be made by Mr. Tucker, chairman of committee which arranged Scots' tour.

'Bay' Plans Three-Storey Car Building

A three-storey parking garage is being planned for construction by the Hudson's Bay Co. here.

It will be erected on the department store's existing parking lot.

An official announcement is expected from the company within a matter of days.

Store officials so far have declined comment but drilling crews have been probing the subsurface rock layers at the site for some time.

Results of the tests apparently have killed hopes that an underground car park could be constructed on the site.

The project still is in the planning stage and details are skimpy, but it is known to involve a conventional tiered garage.

The company's decision to increase parking facilities for its store is in line with recommendations in the city's downtown improvement program which called for ultimate provision of 500 additional car spaces on the site.

Licence Hearing Called 'Farce'

Lawyer, Minister In Heated Clash

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston today was accused of conducting "a farce and a public sham" at a tree farm licence hearing at the Legislative Building.

Counsel for Western Forest Management Association, Ronald Howard, protested that Mr. Williston said before the hearing the government had already made up its mind to grant the application in question—that of Canadian Forest Products Ltd. for cutting rights in the Nimpkish Valley of Northern Vancouver Island.

The lawyer was speaking in support of a submission by C. B. Swanson, WFMA representative who filed a brief protesting conduct of the hearing.

Mr. Swanson said: The hearing has not been conducted under terms of the notice in the B.C. Gazette, it has not been conducted in keeping with the regulations of the Public Enquiries Act, witnesses were not sworn and "cross-examination of witnesses was not permitted."

"We fail to see how the honorable minister can acquire facts on which to base his decisions from statements not made under oath and not subject to cross-examination," said Mr. Swanson.

Gordon Sloan had privately indicated he would place future timber licence hearings on a less formal judicious base.

The minister said he would not hold up the hearing on the CFI application, but would be willing to hear further from Mr. Howard and Mr. Swanson following the hearing.

Mr. Williston said he was accepting the protest, but as minister he had full responsibility for the tree farm licence decision.

He said his actions had been fully ratified by the last session of the legislature. Furthermore, before his death, former government forestry adviser

Zeballos Fears Cut-Off From New Highways

Zeballos Board of Trade today opposed granting of a tree farm licence to Canadian Forest Products Ltd. because it feared the logging operation would isolate the west coast community from proposed northern highway connections.

In a brief to a hearing into the application conducted by Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, the board said the provincial government is committed to a long-range plan of highway development for northern Vancouver Island.

Granting of a timber licence in the Nimpkish Valley "will deny us access to such a highway system."

Minister Has Full Responsibility

"Experience in the Sloan hearings shows that statements not made under oath, and not subject to full cross-examination, should never be relied upon as a basis for the allocation of Crown timber."

Mr. Swanson asked that the hearing, which opened Monday, be held over again, this time under the terms of Public Enquiries Act.

Mr. Williston said he was accepting the protest, but as minister he had full responsibility for the tree farm licence decision.

He said his actions had been fully ratified by the last session of the legislature. Furthermore, before his death, former government forestry adviser

PUBLIC REPORT OUT

"This is proven by the present situations in the Tofino-Port Alberni and Campbell River-Gold River roads, where holders of management licences are denying public access," the brief stated.

Unless there is provision for road contact, "we will be perpetually isolated as regards road contact to the outer world. Mr. Gagliardi (Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi) has concurred with the board in this regard."

SPELL THE END

The board said the northern Island should be retained for the public as a tourist and recreation area.

"The granting of further licences could easily spell the end of development of tourist attractions on Vancouver Island."

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Can you please tell me where I can obtain a legal identification card that will be acceptable for cashing cheques? I have no driver's licence, no unemployment insurance card, and have never worked.—J.L.

A. Unless you are known you are out of luck. Some banks have a card which says a person is a depositor, and of course there is always your bank book. But these two items are also subject to easy falsification and of small value. If you plan a trip, have your bank manager write the manager of the bank where you are going. Or take traveller's cheques.

Q. I recently saw in a magazine where an eyelid was changed to make it wider with a crease in the upper lid. Could you tell me if this operation is possible in Victoria, and where?—A.K.

A. See your doctor for advice.

Williston Threat to 'Cut Him Off' times, under a clause of the Forests Act. He told Mr. Howard he would "cut him off" if he did not limit his remarks to the application.

Mr. Williston said a new statement of forest policy announced at the last session of the House explained that two or three forest licence applications were pending at the time of Mr. Sloan's death and unless his position was filled, the minister would conduct the hearings.

'Honest Witnesses Destroyed'

Mr. Howard refused to be hushed. He recalled that the only type of hearing conducted by Mr. Sloan was with sworn evidence. If with all his knowledge of the industry, Mr. Sloan needed this rule, certainly Mr. Williston should abide by it. And he felt it was on this basis the legislature had authorized Mr. Williston to hold the hearings.

The lands and forests minister denied this. He said he has never intended to hold a formal hearing.

Mr. Howard said in Sloan hearings, "honest witnesses, truthful witnesses, have been destroyed."

They have made statements which could not be substantiated under cross-examination. The pair argued who best knew Mr. Sloan's methods.

"Your tone is critical," said Mr. Howard.

"So is yours..." said the minister.

At another point he told Mr. Howard not to raise his voice.

Mr. Howard said: "I understand before the hearing you

The famous Rotodyne helicopter will be manufactured at the Fairey Aviation plant at Patricia Bay if there are sufficient Canadian orders for it. G. W. Hall, chairman of the parent Fairey Company in England, said here today.

He also stated his opinion that the Rotodyne would be "ideal" for a fast air service between Victoria and Vancouver.

Mr. Hall, a skilled aeronautical engineer, said he will spend a week inspecting the Pat Bay plant to decide how it could be expanded and adapted to manufacture of the Rotodyne.

"We have all the necessary basic equipment at our Pat Bay and Halifax plants; it is therefore a matter of the demand justifying the expenditure," said quiet-spoken Mr. Hall.

He stated that "a great number of people out here" would like to see the Rotodyne in operation between Victoria and Vancouver, but declined to name them at present.

FAST TIME

"It would reduce travelling time between downtown Victoria and downtown Vancouver to exactly half an hour. Each helicopter would carry between 60 and 65 passengers, and its economical operation would inevitably reduce fares, besides cutting out time and expense in travelling to and from airports."

Increase in the price of liquor estimated at 20 cents for a 25-ounce bottle, effective at the end of this month, will be announced soon, it was learned today.

The price increase was brought about by increases in federal taxes announced recently at Ottawa.

It was anticipated that the tax would mean a price increase of about 12 cents for a 25-ounce bottle but some distillers estimated the increase would be closer to 25 cents at the retail level.

Officials in Victoria say the increase will be more "modest" and guessed between 12 and 25 cents on the average.

In Use Saturday

(From Times News Services)

More than 50 ships anchored over 30 miles of river are ready to pass through the $475,000,000 St. Lawrence Seaway on its opening Saturday and sail on into the Great Lakes.

Many of the ships, representing almost every maritime nation, will be the first large ocean-going ships to reach the Great Lakes.

Elaborate ceremonies are being prepared to greet the vessels as they enter various harbors.

The ships are anchored in about the order they will start through the canal. They will be led into the canal by the ice-breakers d'Iberville and Montcalm, carrying members of Parliament and the Senate and honored guests.

It is reported that Prime Minister Diefenbaker, who was not slated to be on the ships, may change his mind and join the convoy.

Toronto has planned a big ceremony for the first ships arriving there. Plaques and medallions will be given to the first ships, foreign and Canadian.

60-YEAR DREAM

Some ship captains are reported worried about overcrowding in the ports. They say the delay in opening the canal because of ice has caused a pileup and further delay and additional expense will be caused in the ports. But port officials say they will have wharf and terminal facilities to handle all shipping once the initial rush is over.

At Lanoraie, Que., St. Lawrence River pilots reversed themselves and agreed to take the 9,815-ton Norwegian tanker Olay-Rindahl Jr., loaded with Russian benzol, through the canal without lightening her. The ship draws 23 feet, about 1.6 feet less than the seaway's navigating depth—a little too close for comfort, according to the pilots.

Today sailors painted and scrubbed their ships, and ran up colorful flags.

SKIPPER WORRIED

The first "working ship" to use the seaway, the 36-year-old Canadian lake freighter Simcoe, will inch into the lock opposite Montreal harbor. It will signal realization of a 60-year-old dream and mark completion of a campaign for a deep-water inland route that will stretch as far as Chicago and Duluth, Minn.

Although the United States is paying one-third of the seaway's construction costs, only two American freighters were destined to be among the initial armada that uses it.

Saturday's working opening will be followed by a more formal ceremony June 26, when Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower come here to officially put the seaway on the map of world trade routes.

One firm, which operates fresh-water pleasure boats as well as some of the lake freighters that will be the first through the locks, prepared today to cash in on people's curiosity. It advertised a $95.50 return trip June 8-11 that will take sightseers through the seaway system to Lake Ontario and back to Montreal. (See Page 3.)

CASTRO CUTS
CANADA VISIT

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has definitely curtailed his visit to Canada, and will only stay a few hours in Montreal. Conchita Fernandez, private secretary to Castro, said the Cuban prime minister will not have time to fulfill all his scheduled visits at this time, and will be in Montreal from Sunday afternoon until early Monday morning, before returning to Havana.

'Gangsters'
Go About Business

NEW YORK (UPI)—The "American gangsters" reported converging on New York to assassinate Cuban prime minister Fidel Castro for paying were located Thursday night, going peaceably about their business in Philadelphia and Las Vegas, but police refused today to relax their heavy guard around the people-loving statesman.

Castro himself was unworried, and undeterred from his ebullient round of seeing sights, including the Empire State building, and meeting people, including pretty girls, politicians, school children and the owner of his favorite baseball club.

Today, Castro visited the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, Inc., in downtown Manhattan, the largest market of its kind.

Castro, who was greeted by Charles S. Lowry, president of the exchange, said he was visiting the exchange because "our most important product is sugar."

'Every Night Halloween' for City's Rowdies

By JOHN MIKA

Every night is Halloween in Greater Victoria for a booming population of juvenile delinquents.

And it is primarily the fault of parents, a panel of experts told some 30 members of the B.C. Association of Social Workers, South Vancouver Island branch, Thursday night in the City Welfare Centre.

The panel was asked three questions about the problem of juvenile delinquency in this area.

Is Delinquency Increasing?

"The increase in our court work has blossomed four-fold in Victoria," said city juvenile officer Lyle Somers. "It has jumped from 125 cases in 1949 to 500 cases last year."

"That's just court cases. Actual delinquency triples that."

Sgt. Victor Pratley, Oak Bay juvenile officer, said the average annual increase in delinquency has been 342 per cent during the past decade.

"That seems ridiculous. But those are the figures," Harry Adams, Saanich juvenile officer, said 20 cases of juvenile delinquency in 1949 grew to 242 in 1958, "and we're just touching the surface."

"Each year the number seems to be doubling," he said. So far this year there have been 155 cases and I'm sure that in a month or two we will have had the same number as for all of last year."

Whose Fault Is It?

"Lack of control by the parents," said Mr. Adams. "Sometimes a mother will phone me to say her child is definitely beyond her control—and the child is only five years old!"

"Every night is Halloween here. Juvenile delinquents have no respect for property. They'll smash things and steal. And when you ask them why, the only answer you get is 'For something to do.'"

He said many parents don't know where their children are at night or who their companions are.

Mr. Somers said parents "continually blame society but they forget they are society."

"Children are what parents make them. Some parents think you have children and that's it—they will grow up all by themselves. Well, they don't."

He said teachers were unfairly blamed for the problem. "How can you blame teachers when they have the children for only five hours of the day and the parents have them for the other 19?"

The juvenile officers also criticized the junior high school system as a producer of trouble-makers because it is too large and unwieldy for keeping pace with the individual child's needs.

But they agreed with Mary King, deputy B.C. superintendent for child welfare, that there are many causes for juvenile delinquency.

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot said he felt society was to blame because it had broken up the family unit and demoralized parents.

"He said home life was completely destroyed by the two world wars and the tremendous expansion of Canada's economy."

"Today we have a very false standard of living and to keep up to that standard the mother must go out to work to pay the bills."

He said this caused juvenile delinquency and was one of the "ways in which we are paying for our economic standards."

What Is the Solution?

All agreed that there is no single solution but that a single juvenile judge with jurisdiction over family squabbles too would be a vital step towards improving the situation in Greater Victoria.

Mr. Somers and Mr. Pratley disagreed that a unified juvenile and family court itself would be of any particular benefit but they said appointment of a single judge and a probation staff is needed desperately.

Mrs. King and Mr. Adams went further and said a unified court, providing a central and larger administrative unit, would unfold greater possibilities of helping delinquents.

"I think by having four courts at present, we are not being fair to the children," said Mr. Adams. "I'm for a single court and a single set of files so we can do a better job."

ARMS CACHE DISCOVERED IN PANAMA

PANAMA CITY (AP)—National guardsmen today reported finding a second cache of arms on the beach where Roberto Arias and a rebel band landed six days ago.

Arias, fugitive husband of ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn, still was eluding patrols.

The rebels were believed well armed in their hideout.

The latest buried arms cache included 24 Argentine pistols, three revolvers, five loaded cartridge belts and 1,000 rounds of ammunition.

Dismissal Asked Of Nfld. Lawsuit

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has filed two motions for dismissal in the Exchequer Court of Canada of Newfoundland's suit for damages against the attorney-general of Canada.

One motion asks the court to toss out, for lack of jurisdiction to hear the case, Newfoundland's claim for damages on the ground of alleged breach of a contract under which the RCMP acts as a provincial police force in the island province.

The second motion also asks

IN LOVE?

Italians Speculate On Margaret

ROME (AP)—Some Rome newspapers speculated today that perhaps Princess Margaret is in love.

The man is 31-year-old Prince Henry of Hesse. He is a tall, quiet-mannered artist who bears the title of the ancient German house of Hesse and is a descendant of the house of Savoy, which gave Italy her kings.

The handsome prince was Margaret's most frequent partner during a gay night club evening out this week. She danced almost every dance until the tired guests began to trickle home from Rome's fashionable Cabala club.

Thursday, when Queen Mother Elizabeth went the rounds of her visits, Margaret showed up for cocktails with a select party of friends at the Villa Savoia, Prince Henry's residence in Rome.

The prince was with her when she visited St. Peter's Basilica Thursday.

for a dismissal of the suit on the ground that the province's statement of claim "discloses no reasonable cause of action."

order for the Rotodyne last September.

"We expect this plane will be ready for delivery within the next 18 months or so," he said.

SIX ORDERED

He added that there is "considerable interest" in the plane across Canada, and New York Airways have ordered six Rotodynes with the option of ordering 15 more.

The Rotodyne, developed by a team of Fairley aeronautical engineers, recently broke the world speed record for helicopters at 190.9 miles per hour in horizontal flight over a closed circuit of 100 kilometres.

Mr. Hall anticipates the ultimate cruising speed of the plane will be between 160 and 180 mph.

It is capable of rising vertically from a space of little more than 100 square feet, and its rotor wings, which provide lift for the takeoff, are allowed to free-wheel when two conventional propeller engines take over in flight.

The plane offers twin-engine safety so that if one engine fails it climbs on the other.

STARVED OUT OF 'AMMO'

Fruit Shortage Ends Siege

BRUSSELS (UPI)—A bugle-toting band of university students stormed and held a medieval castle for nearly 12 hours today before making their peace with besieging police and departing with honor.

About 150 male and female students swam Beersel Castle's moat in the dead of night to occupy the fortress. It started as a stunt to protest university budget cuts in favor of a campaign to popularize museums.

But the prank rapidly assumed crisis proportions. The students blared their defiance from behind the castle's thick oaken gates at police who arrived with fire hoses and tear gas.

The students belted the cops with ripe tomatoes and other fruits and vegetables.

Police held their tempers and their weapons, and won the day with diplomacy. After hours of talking, the students streamed out of the castle.

Another pressure that led to the end of the siege was food. The students said they originally had enough for three days but they threw most of it at police. Their colleagues on the outside hired a helicopter and it was set to take off for the fortress with fresh supplies when police got wind of the operation and halted it at the airport.

The students filed out of the castle chanting "Victory, victory" and were met by a convoy of trucks and cars which had come from the university with cases of beer and sandwiches.

The new supplies were broken out and hundreds of students held an impromptu rally on the castle lawns. Student leaders made speeches demanding more money for universities.

By mid-afternoon the whole thing was over and both sides withdrew, leaving the castle to the tourists again.
